THINK WILSON WIDOW FAVORS SMITH IDEALS

Former President's Wife Silent, but Attends Many Democratic Meetings
SPLITS WILSON GROUP
McAdoo, His Son-in-law, Many Western Supporters Oppose Empire Governor

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1928 Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Word is being passed around in political circles that Mrs. Woodrow Wilson will shortly announce herself in favor of the nomination of Governor Smith of New York. In several of the states where the battle for delegates has begun, this information is being distributed. Mrs. Wilson herself has made no public statement on the subject. She attended the Jackson Day dinner and has been taking an interest in the various functions held by the women's Democratic organizations.

Since the death of the late president she has been living in Washington but is known to have maintained many of the friendships of her husband with the leaders of the Democratic party. If Mrs. Wilson were to issue a pronouncement in favor of Governor Smith, it would certainly emphasize the cleavage which has developed in the Wilson group. William Gibbs McAdoo, son-in-law of President Wilson, is opposed to Governor Smith's nomination. A number of the western dries who were staunch Wilson supporters are equally vigorous in their opposition.

WOODROW LIKED 'AL'
Some unpublished letters of President Wilson are said to indicate the high regard that the president had for the New York governor, but the latter's political star so far as presidential aspirations are concerned was just developing when Mr. Wilson died in February 1922.

Mr. Wilson, it will be recalled, vetoed the Volstead Act, the reasons given at the time being considered technical, but among his advisers were men who used to say he was of the opinion that generally speaking he did not like the so-called dries for the purpose of the eighteenth amendment. One Wilson man who is ardently for Governor Smith is his former secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, and Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, secretary of war in the Wilson cabinet, has announced himself for Smith.

PLAYING WITH CIGAR LIGHTER CAUSES DEATH
Milwaukee—(P)—Playing with a cigar lighter cost the life of Loretta Schuster, 11 months old, Tuesday.

While the child's father and mother were both out of the room, she ignited the lighter, setting fire to her clothes. Her screams a moment later brought the parents to her aid. When they reached the room, the baby's clothing was a mass of flames.

The father put out the flames and took the child to the nearest hospital, but the baby was pronounced dead on entrance.

Mrs. Schuster had gone to the bathroom to do some washing, leaving the baby to play on the floor. In some manner, the baby picked up the lighter and ignited it.

PROBERS TURN TO DEMOCRAT FUNDS DEMAND RESIGNATION OF MELLON

SMITH'S REPLY LOOSES BITTER PARTY BATTLE

Indiana Republican Calls Al Unstatesmanlike and Charges Fly Fast

Washington—(P)—Rising in the senate Wednesday to reply to the statements of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, Senator Robinson, Rep. Indiana, characterized language of the governor's letter to Chairman Nye, of the Senate Finance committee, as "unstatesmanlike."

Taking the floor soon after the letter of Governor Smith which roundly denounced the Indiana and Chairman Nye of the oil committee for bringing his name into the discussions had been placed in the record, Robinson charged that "men in both parties betrayed their trust" and that men like Harry F. Sinclair don't confine their activities to one party.

He said he would cite a case where Senator Walsh of Montana, had approved of some activities of E. L. Doheny who bought the Elk Hills naval oil reserve at a later time.

"Debate in the senate centered largely about the appointment of Sinclair to the New York racing commission, and completely overshadowed Wednesday's session of the oil committee."

Declaring he had not meant to attack Smith in his statement of Monday asking whether Harry F. Sinclair had been a contributor to Smith's campaign of 1920 and a member of the New York racing commission, Senator Robinson said he was "amazed" that the "outburst from this presidential candidate."

"He is not as calm in his choice of language as it seems statesmen should be," the Indiana continued.

"I wonder if one of Mr. Smith's temperaments when charged with the great responsibilities of the White House would choose such language in dealing with the people and foreign nations? It looks like there would be warfare on all hands and trouble from the start."

"Mine was a harmless question. I was simply trying to find out if Sinclair was a member of the Smith administration."

DEMOCRATS FIGHT
A half dozen Democrats sought to question Robinson. Finally Wheeler, of Montana, broke in to remark that Democrats could not take Sinclair to their bosom because he belonged to the Republicans.

"But the Governor of New York did make Sinclair a member of his administration," Robinson rejoined.

Asked repeatedly where Democrats had betrayed their trust, Robinson finally said that three members of the Wilson cabinet left their positions to take places with Edward L. Doheny, also a naval oil reserve lessee.

"Doheny and Sinclair sleep in the same bed," he declared, "and a lot of Democrats sleep with them."

Senator Griffin, Democrat, Alabama, demanded to know one Democrat who had betrayed his trust, and said he would denounce him.

"Edward L. Doheny," responded Robinson.

"I denounced him three years ago," Griffin replied, "and he left the party for large commercial company in the Republican ranks."

"There's no use talking; birds of a feather will flock together."

The Indiana was heckled by a succession of Democrats, Bailey, of Kentucky, asking if he would discuss "the Indiana situation" when he concluded as to Governor Smith."

Find 34 Of Submarine's Crew Lived After Crash

BULLETIN

Boston—(P)—The salvage air line of the submarine S-4 was found in working order Wednesday when members of the naval board of investigation tested it at the Boston navy yard where the wrecked ship rests in dry dock.

The line which runs to the various compartments of the submersible was not broken, the board found and functioned properly. Naval officers said that had an air line been connected to this salvage line, air could have been pumped to the men within the submarine to maintain life until carbon monoxide collected in sufficient quantities to cause death.

The line, it was found contained some water and the members of the board believed that it was opened after the S-4 was rammed by the Coast Guard Cutter Paulding and then closed. The men of the submarine probably believed it had been broken.

The salvage line had no connection with the air line to the ballast tanks which was found broken. The latter is used to force out water from the tanks so that the ship can be made buoyant.

Boston—(P)—Definite establishment that the 34 men imprisoned in the after compartment of the submarine S-4 had lived for a considerable length of time after the crash by the destroyer Paulding near Provincetown last December which eventually claimed the lives of the 40 officers and men aboard seemed Wednesday to have been made by the naval board of investigation.

Like the men imprisoned in the torpedo room, they had attempted to attract attention of divers by means of signals, but unlike those forward they had been unsuccessful and divers a few hours after the accident which sent it to the bottom reported there was no life left.

Only one message from any of the survivors had been discovered Wednesday. A brief note directing the disposal of his body was found scrawled in red crayon on a small piece of cardboard in the clothing of Seaman George Pelnar whose body was identified at the Chelsea Naval hospital Tuesday.

DRAG KICKAPOO RIVER FOR MISSING YOUTH
Guys Mills, (P)—The Kickapoo river is believed to hold the solution to the mysterious disappearance of Peter Freesech, 26 of Guys Mills, missing since Sunday night, and said by a companion to have fallen into the stream.

An investigation of the story told by James Holmes, 36 was opened Tuesday by Sheriff Emmett Haggerty and District Attorney Arthur B. Curran of Prairie Du Chien. Holmes said he and Freesech were returning to their homes across the Kickapoo river visiting a friend Sunday night when Freesech slipped and fell as he was getting into a rowboat and was drowned.

Villagers have dragged the rivers for two days searching for the body without success.

Holmes said he was thrown into the water also and that when he got to shore he could find no trace of his companion.

TREASURY HEAD FACES FIRE OF OWN PARTY MEN

Senator Couzens Brings in Several Citations as Grounds for Dismissal

Washington—(P)—A target for Democratic attacks ever since he testified recently in the senate oil committee inquiry, Secretary Mellon faced the withering fire of a prominent member of his own party aimed at his resignation from the cabinet.

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, long a staunch foe of the treasury secretary on tax policy, had pending a resolution which would place the senate on record as favoring Mellon's retirement.

Attached to the proposal was a long list of citations as grounds for the secretary's leaving President Coolidge's official family. Throughout his entire administration, the resolution said, "there runs an indifference to the law, a contempt for the law, a defiance of law."

The senate has not the power to force such resignations and Senator Couzens' resolution will have to wait for such time as the rules will permit its coming up for debate.

Aside from withholding information as to the Sinclair donations in 1924 to the Republican party chests, $50,000 of whose bonds were tendered Mellon and refused by him, the resolution cited the following "whereases" as grounds for the secretary's retirement:

LISTS GRIEVANCES
That the Pittsburgh Coal Co. a Mellon enterprise, has been brought out in the senate coal inquiry as having done "everything it could to defeat accurate findings as to its mines by the issuance of orders."

That Mellon was a large contributor to a participant and a speaker in the 1925 Pennsylvania senatorial campaign and defended the large contributions which the senate has condemned.

That Mellon is engaged in activity with the Gulf Oil Corporation, Gypsy Oil Co., Mexican Gulf Oil Co., Aluminium Co. of America, and many other corporations.

That the government was defrauded out of $91,000 in the tax case of the Mellon National bank, the Union Trust Co. and the Union Savings Bank, all Mellon enterprises, while the secretary was holding office.

Nadel's head and shoulders had thirteen bullet wounds, while seven bullets had entered his companion's body. Authorities said they apparently had been shot from the rear seat after being induced to take at least two gunmen for a ride. The killers escaped in another machine, investigators said.

Sheriff Edward J. Rasmussen of Painesville and Lieutenant Frank Story of the Cleveland police force believed the slayings were an outgrowth of northern Ohio bootlegging feuds.

COMMUTE SENTENCE OF DORIS M'DONALD

New York Girl to Spend Life in Prison but Husband Will Hang

Ottawa, Ont.—(P)—Mrs. Doris McDonald, young New York show girl sentenced to hang on Friday with her husband for the murder of a machine taxidriver, had her sentence commuted to life imprisonment Wednesday. Preparations were continued for the hanging of the husband, George McDonald.

At 12:30 p. m. the governor general approved orders in council granting the commutation in the case of Mrs. McDonald affirming the death sentence passed on her husband.

The formal commutation of Mrs. McDonald's sentence two days before she was to die on the gallows at Valleyfield, was the climax of a widespread agitation during which hundreds of petitions for clemency were received from the United States and Canada.

Although McDonald first said his wife killed Adelaide Bouchard, the taxidriver, he made an affidavit recently in which he swore that she was entirely blameless.

Bouchard was killed on last July 17 on the Malone-Carletonville highway near Huntingdon, Que., after being engaged by the McDonalds to drive them to another town.

TESTIMONY STARTED IN CER MURDER CASE

Superior—(P)—Selection of a jury completed, testimony in the trial of St. John's Cer, charged with the murder of Leo Gutowski, continued Wednesday after a start late Tuesday.

Nearly two days had been consumed in the selection of a jury. More than 50 witnesses were examined before the jury was drawn. Several "experts" on account of prejudice, were excluded.

Several witnesses will testify that Cer was belligerent the night of the party and displayed a death knife as "something good for them."

The testimony started late Tuesday. Sheriff H. A. Turnbull related the details of Cer's arrest after he had "bravely" killed Gutowski and Louis Willie, both of New Duluth, Minn., and wounded a third after an all-night party in the village of Oliver.

Emil Marwick described what he had seen of the battle where a knife was wielded against three men in a narrow enclosed porch at the home of "Ma" Steven, Oliver resident.

The trial is expected to last the entire week.

SAYS PROGRESSIVES ACT WITHOUT POLICY

Vits Claims Things Are So Jumbled Up That Voters Don't Know What To Do

Milwaukee—(P)—Progressive Republicans in the delegate fight were described Wednesday by George Vits, Republican national committeeman, as being "so mixed and jumbled that any voter must be puzzled to know what they want or intend to do."

Striking back at the critics of the uninstructed delegate candidates who he is supporting, Mr. Vits asserted that the progressives are "wet and dry, world court and anti world court" and "give a left-handed speech for Norris and an open avowal for possible Democratic candidates to be nominated."

He praised the Republican uninstructed delegate slate, asserting their purpose was "solely for the welfare of Wisconsin and asserted that they were selected in largely attended open conferences."

Wisconsin knows that those who oppose the election of real Republicans are placed, by their own action, in an inconsistent position," Mr. Vits said. They are wet and dry, world court and anti world court, they give a left-handed speech support for Norris and an open avowal for possible Democratic candidates to be nominated. They are so mixed and jumbled that any voter must be puzzled to know what they want or intend to do. Wisconsin wonders if they, themselves, know.

"An honestly conducted effort to interest voters of Wisconsin in the election of Republican delegates is going on. There are no concealments, evasions or star-chamber sessions. Our delegates were selected in largely attended open conferences on public notice to all the voters of the state. No special invitations were issued nor were the doors at any of these conferences closed to any citizen."

DEMOCRATS GIRDING FOR DELEGATE FIGHT

Plan to Start Aggressive Campaign for Men Who Will Support Gov. Smith

Sheboygan—(P)—C. E. Broughton of Sheboygan, permanent chairman of the Democratic State Conference, which unanimously endorsed Governor Alfred E. Smith for president, announces that an aggressive campaign is under way for the election of delegates-at-large and district delegates in the state of Wisconsin.

"Realizing that it is necessary to unite in order to present a solid Smith delegation, all admirers of Gov. Smith are advised to vote for Arthur W. Luuck of Beaver Dam, brother of the late Judge Luuck, John A. Kuypers of Jeffers, Judge Michael S. Sheridan, and Nathan Glicksman as delegates-at-large," said Mr. Broughton in a statement. The same is true of the Eleventh congressional district delegates.

"There is a general impression that there is only a contest in the Republican party, but there is one of just as much importance, or more, in the Democratic party with Sen. Walsh in the Democratic field with four delegates-at-large."

"Four years ago, under the leadership of the late Judge Martin Luuck, an aggressive campaign was carried on, and almost a solid delegation selected for Gov. Smith. The three hundred delegates at the state conference selected his brother as one of the delegates-at-large and admirers of Gov. Smith are urging the election of the entire slate endorsed by the conference."

"During the last two weeks of the campaign, meetings will be held in various sections of the state, and the district delegates will plan to cover every town, city and village in their territory."

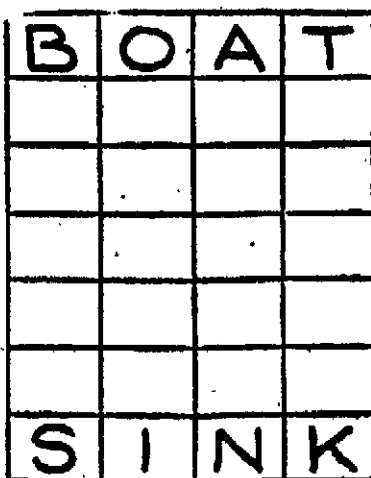

Commenting on the conference and Governor Al Smith for president, Mr. Broughton said: "Wisconsin Democrats owe it to themselves to present a solid front in defense of Governor Al Smith, one of the greatest progressives of his time. His record of achievement in office is a guarantee to what we may expect if he is elevated to the office of president."

Mayor A. C. Rule has returned from a two day business trip to Madison and Chicago.

LETTER GOLF

"CANOE" SINK A BOAT

Sometimes it's a problem to keep a boat from sinking, but today's letter golf puzzle aims to SINK any BOAT with six waves of the pencil. At least that's the par—you may be able to do it in less. One solution is on page 11.

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change Cow to Hen, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

3—You must have a complete word at a time.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

The regular meeting of the board of directors will be held Friday.

John E. Sommers, representing the aviation department of the United States Department of Commerce, was here Wednesday to help lay out the airport of the North American Airways company.

Mr. Sommers said the company's tract of land on Highway 41 between here and Menasha to be ideally located for a landing field and promised an A rating for the port.

He said original plans of the company met with his approval and charts of the landing field would be sent to all aviators as soon as the original was received at Washington and copies made.

ARREST STUDENTS FOR CELEBRATION

15 Penn Undergrads in Trouble After Team Wins Cage Title

Philadelphia—(P)—Fifteen University of Pennsylvania undergraduates, including the president of the senior class, were arrested early Wednesday after celebration of Penn's defeat of Princeton for the eastern intercollegiate basketball league championship.

John McDowell, senior president, was arrested on a charge of inciting to riot and held in jail for some time before being released to await a hearing. All traffic was stopped on one of the main thoroughfares of that section of the city, the 1000 victory-crazed students pulled trolley poles from street cars and in the midst of the excitement several score gathered around a stalled trolley and attempted to lift it from the tracks.

START BONFIRE

The police drove them back several blocks, but when the students reached the center of one of the main intersections, they started a huge bonfire in the street and firemen were summoned to extinguish it. Upon arrival of the fireman, the crowd retarded and took a truck trailer with them, placing it in the middle of a street some distance away, again holding up traffic. They fired the trailer and once more the firemen extinguished the flames and then turned several hose lines on the crowd of students.

LINDBERGH GIVEN GREATEST REWARD

Congressional Medal of Honor Last Award for Lone Eagle

Washington—(P)—President Coolidge Wednesday placed personally about the shoulders of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh the blue ribbon of the congressional medal of honor, greatest American tribute to courage and initiative.

Surrounded by the highest public officials in the executive departments and by Republican and Democratic congressional leaders, President Coolidge conferred the decoration for "heroic courage and great skill" in the Lindbergh flight from New York to Paris.

"I offer you my heartiest congratulations," the president said after conferring the medal.

He added that in his flight Lindbergh had "not only achieved the greatest triumph of any American citizen, but had shown that trans-Atlantic flight was possible."

It was the last, incidentally, of the long list of decorations and honors upon the first New York to Paris flier before he retires to pursue, out of the focus of the public eye, that aerial vocation which he so admirably advanced in importance by crossing the Atlantic without stop, touring the United States, flying to Mexico City, and conducting his good will air tour of Central America. President Coolidge, who decorated Lindbergh on his triumphant return from Paris last year with a medal on the monument

The youthful aeronaut then was to have an opportunity to show anew to the nation's legislators just how safe he believes traveling by air to be. He began hauling members of congress aloft Tuesday and the demand was brisk when he called a halt after taking 59 senators and representatives for short tours over the city.

CLAIMS CANAL CAN BE MADE USELESS

Drainage of Gatun Lake Would Do Trick, Reserve Corps Members Told

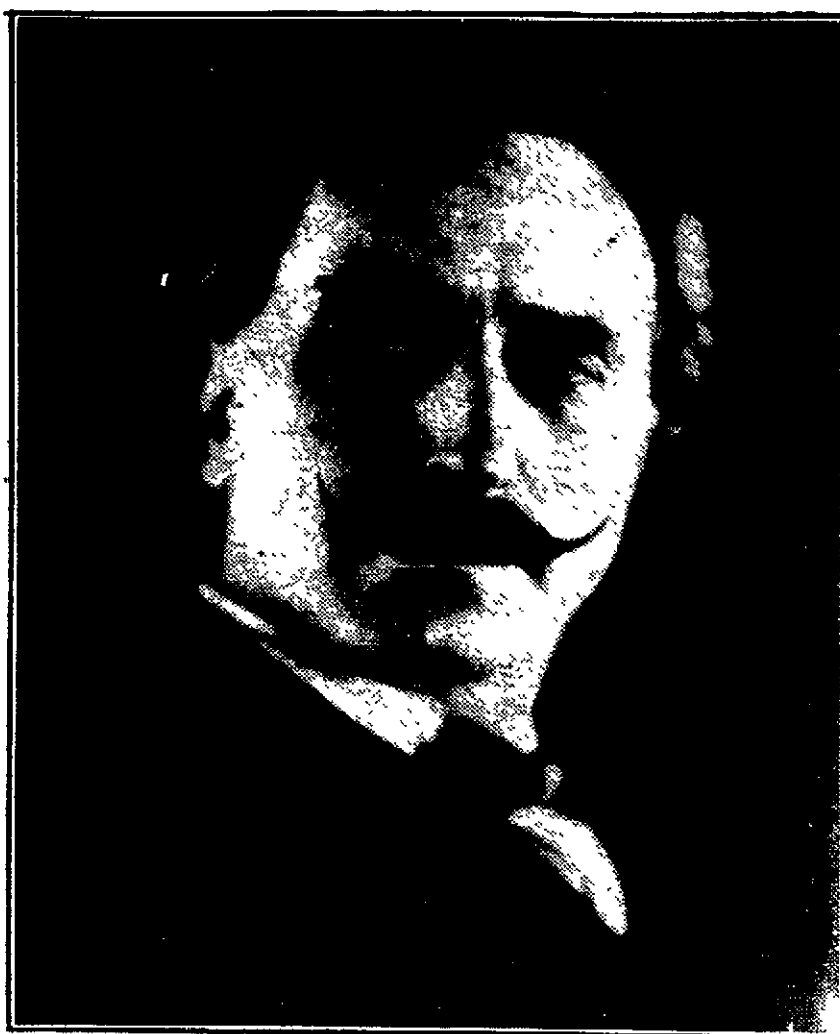

"Should the United States ever have reason to believe that the Panama canal was about to fall into the hands of an enemy, the draining of Gatun lake would render the canal useless for several years," Lieutenant Joseph Doyer told members of Fox River valley chapter, officers reserve corps, at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at Hotel Northern.

Lieutenant Doyer also exploded another popular opinion when he reminded his listeners that the locks in the Panama canal were not to raise boats from the level of one ocean to the other, or vice versa, but rather to raise them to the level of Gatun lake and the canal channel and then lower them to the level of the other ocean. About 25 members of the corps and their friends attended the meeting.

The question of a dinner dance or military ball for members of the corps was discussed at the business meeting. The matter was laid over until the next meeting after lent and steps had been taken to ascertain the opinion of corps members not present.

NEWS OF NEENAH AND MENASHA

HOLD LAND OWNERS RESPONSIBLE FOR LIGHT, WATER BILLCentral Paper Company Refused Relief from High Property Assessment

Menasha—The rebating of taxes occupied a portion of the council meeting Tuesday night. The city was unable to do anything for the Central Paper company which had its assessment raised from $27,000 to approximately $90,000 for the reason that the company did not appear before the board of review during the two weeks it was in session to make known its dissatisfaction. Rebates on a portion of their taxes were granted to the Neenah Shute company and the Menasha Paper Mill company, according to a previous arrangement. Annual rebates were granted to several needy families.

J. E. Kitzowski, city superintendent of schools, presented a list of the recommendations prepared by the fire prevention inspectors last week which included a sprinkler system for Menasha high school. Mrs. J. H. Kuester called attention of the aldermen to the fact that backwater had caused considerable damage to the basement of her home on Naymut-st and that the city would be held liable in the event of repetition.

A communication from the Quarry Products company quoting crushed stone for the proposed Racine-st improvement was read by Clerk John Jedwabny, Jr. Owing to it being the slack time of the year, the company said it could make a better price now than later in the season. Some of the aldermen were of the opinion that county aid could be secured in the paving of Racine-st.

Mayor Remmel announced that the Boy Scouts intended to hold a meeting in Menasha next Friday night and had asked for the use of the city hall. A second meeting will be held on March 30. He also had received a communication from Frank Lanzer, president of the Menasha Radio club, asking for use of the council rooms for meetings. Mr. Lanzer said the club has purchased an electrical detector for locating trouble and also had been offered the services of two expert electricians without compensation.

Soft drink licenses were granted to O. H. Schlegel and Arthur Luedtke. The purchase of a county atlas was referred to the committee of the whole to bring in a report. A motion was adopted reducing the cost of collecting the water and light bills and simplifying the method of making them out. Under the new arrangement, property owners will be held responsible for the payment of the bills.

Mayor Remmel urged the necessity of getting all details concerning the proposed new Tayco-st bridge in shape so that construction work can begin early in the spring. He said the only thing that has not been adjusted is the amount of expense to be borne by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company for operating its interurban cars over the new structure. The old agreement was that the power company should pay 40 per cent and that is the amount asked for by the city under the new arrangement. Several meetings with the power company have been held and it is expected the matter will be adjusted within the next few days.

The matter of correcting the description of a parcel of land owned by William Jensen and of making the necessary readjustment of taxes was referred to City Clerk John Jedwabny, Jr. Mayor Remmel called attention to the public hearing to be held at the city hall next Monday afternoon by government officials on matters pertaining to the new bridge and requested the aldermen to attend. An adjournment was taken until next Friday evening.

CAGE TEAM HEARS
SPEECH BY DENNYPlay to Win the Game, Lawrence Coach Tells Athletes
at Luncheon

Neenah—Play to Win the Game, was the subject of a short talk given Tuesday noon by Coach A. C. Denny of Lawrence college to the high school basketball team following a dinner given in the team's honor by the Kiwanis club at Valley Inn.

Coach Denny emphasized the fact that in order to win in most anything, one must train, keep training, which not only makes a boy fit for a game but also gets him fit for society. Keep clean and at all times play to win. "Have that subject in view and forget all other things which might interfere with the playing, training and the health," he claimed. He complimented the team for winning both the conference and district tournament and was proud of them as he had his first position as coach in the Neenah high school.

He criticized the schools about the state which did not encourage their basketball teams to enter tournaments as this, he claimed, was the highest award the player can achieve by attending a tournament and stacking up against the very best the state affords. He claimed that he would rather have his pupils miss two weeks of school than to miss the four day tournament, as that was the place where real work was considered and judged by competent officials.

ATHLETES STARTING

BERLIN EXECUTIONER NOT SO DRESSY NOW

Headman Permitted to Wear Dark Robes Instead of Full Dress Suit

Berlin —(P)—Although strong feeling against capital punishment exists in German intellectual circles, the newly projected penal code contains no abolition clause, and aims merely at establishing a uniform process of execution.

The law now in force decrees that the death penalty in the Reich must be inflicted by means of beheading, but in parts of Germany different methods of decapitation, based on ancient local usage, are still employed. In the Rhine province, Hanover, Hamburg, Bavaria and Saxony, a more or less modern form of the guillotine is in use, but in Mecklenburg, Anhalt, Reuss and Lippe the executioner still performs his grim office with the "sword of justice." In Prussia proper, the sword was replaced about 100 years ago by the ax.

A few weeks ago, when Karl Boettcher was executed by the ax in Berlin for a double murder, a new ordinance first came into force which permitted the executioner to perform his office in a dark suit, instead of in the hitherto obligatory black swallow tail coat, white choker, top hat and white gloves.

Another old custom which may soon be done away with is the granting of a prisoner's last wish. There is nothing in the German penal code to establish a prisoner's right to this, but in practice it is generally granted unless it is senseless or extravagant. One prisoner asked to "learn to play the piano" before being put to death.

How ancient is the custom of letting the prisoner choose his "last meal" may be seen from the fact that in a Breslau museum there is a medieval sword of justice with a special pocket in the scabbard for a knife and fork, which the person under sentence of death was permitted to use on the eve of execution.

CHILDREN ARE UNPOPULAR

In a recent issue of the Milwaukee Journal appeared a compilation showing the effect of what is said to have been a joker in the new income tax law in Wisconsin, a thing that will show its effect to the people of the state in June next when income taxes are payable. The result of a seemingly innocent change in the law makes an increase of from 12 1/2 to 150% in taxes, hitting married persons harder than unmarried and those with large families hardest.

The application of the amendment to specific instances will show its effect. Under the old law a single person had an exemption of $800 deducted from his net income before subjecting him to a tax. Under the new law he has no exemption but the sum of $8.00 is deducted from the tax itself. The effect of this change on a single person with a taxable income of $1500 is an increase of 18% and the increase is about the same on all taxable incomes ranging from $1200 per annum to $5000 per annum.

As indicated the amendment struck harder at the married man without children who was under the old law entitled to a deduction of $1600 from his net income and who is entitled under the new law to a deduction of $17.50 from his tax. Such a person with a taxable income of $2000 per annum will find his tax is increased 25%; with a taxable income of $2500 per annum his tax is increased 39%; with a taxable income of $3000 per annum his tax is increased 33% and with a taxable income of $5000 his tax is increased 29%.

But the amendment took its real vengeance upon the married man with children, hitting him harder for every child, and with this result: a married man with one child and a taxable income of $2500 per annum will find his income tax increased 58% but the same man with two children will find it increased 117%; the same man with a taxable income of $4000 and one child will find his income tax increased 44%, with two children it is increased 57% and if he has a family of five children his increase is 150%.

This sort of meddling and muddling with our taxing laws, while consistent with the past experience of Wisconsin with its legislature, is neither just, sensible nor constructive, in fact is wild.

Report is that some of the legislators did not understand what they were doing when they made this change. That is easily believable and the same observation goes for a majority of the things that the legislature of Wisconsin has been doing. It is estimated that this change in the law will increase the income of the state by more than a million dollars. But making alterations in important laws in this haphazard manner never gets the government anywhere, decreases the respect and confidence of the people in their government, as though the making of laws was based upon the certainty of a throw of the dice.

It does no good to say that a blunder has been made. An error here or there in any human institution is easily forgivable but the number that has occurred with the Wisconsin legislature is rising to a staggering figure. The taxpayer who finds himself thus forced to pay a considerable increase of tax without any apparent reason for the change is the person however who is responsible for these blunders, for he is the person who is responsible for the election of assemblymen and senators, responsible for the making of laws.

LIVES FOR WATER

Los Angeles' desperate quest for water has had its first major tragedy. Some hundreds of lives are forfeit to a dam wall failure at one of the reservoirs in a system which reaches two hundred fifty miles north across mountain and desert to the Owens river valley, supplying enough water for two million people.

Repeatedly this aqueduct line has been dynamited by ranchers objecting to city use of water which might be applied to irrigation. No doubt the difficulties encountered by Los Angeles will be increased by the bursting of the St. Francis dam and ensuing catastrophe. Perhaps additional opposition will be created for a still greater Los Angeles water project—the scheme to pipe enough water from a federal dam at Boulder on the Colorado river to raise Los Angeles' potential development to a population of seven and a half millions.

This indomitable city cannot in all probability be blamed in any just way for the tragedy. No doubt every engineering precaution was ordered by Los Angeles in planning the dam. Certainly its attempt to serve its population and provide for future growth is natural and inevitable. New York, reaching into the Catskills, and countless other communities from Rome's time on have utilized the same methods. But growing complications arise. Outsiders, affected by the taking of water, are inquiring as to its waste. The great lakes states have forced metering of Chicago water. Potential agricultural or hydroelectric areas are increasingly protesting.

The California tragedy will add fuel to protests, some fair and many mistaken, against the alleged right of cities to boom themselves to a point which requires the taking of water from watersheds removed by hundreds of miles—or even by the breadth of states. And particularly, as in the case of Los Angeles, when the service of water carries with it a profitable sideline in the way of power development.

ALFRED ALOYSUS SMITH

Alfred Aloysius Smith does not sound like a very poetic name but it belongs to a man with a colorful history, with whom fortune played its fickle game and of whom it almost made a jest in life until he arrived past the age of three score years and ten, whereat fortune changed its tune and poured wealth into his lap.

Smith is the right name of the man who is reaping notoriety as the hero of "Trader Horn", an unusual book telling an unusual story, whose origin happened in a most unusual way. It all sounds like a bit of a fairy tale, and to Smith himself it must seem most unreal.

His seventy-third birthday found him a peddler in South Africa, after spending his best years and most of his life on that continent of mystery and savagry. He happened to walk up to the front door of a writer and he tried to sell her a kitchen utensil. She was attracted by his invariable good humor and his homely philosophy, and under her directing hand he wrote the history of his sixty years experience with cannibal and pigmy, with elephant and gorilla. When the book was printed it took like wild fire, its sales mounting into the tens of thousands.

Last week Mr. Smith landed at New York to make a tour of the country that received his literary efforts so favorably, efforts that yield him now $4,000 a week income.

Not only are "Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's lady sisters under the skin," but the step from peddling hardware in the meager fields of South Africa to affluence is a very short step when fortune has one by the hand.

Mr. Smith with his book comes at a welcome time when the market has been flooded with altogether too much salacious literature making a bid to tastes much too highly seasoned. His success is good evidence that the public still enjoys and much prefers tales that are clean and simple concerning lives that are hardy but honest. Mr. Smith deserves his good fortune.

AN OUTLINE OF HYGIENE

20—ONE LUCID INTERVAL

Amid the psychopathic antics of the unsavory Hickman trial in California there came one morning a brief lucid interval. In view of the mercenary part played by medical expert testimony in this burlesque it is gratifying that it was of medical men who testified to this effect. All this pomp and ceremony is ridiculous. If we wish to know whether this man is insane we should send him to the psychopathic ward. Why heap the expense of this burlesque legal inquiry on the shoulders of the taxpayers?

Politics, doctor, politics. It is fairly obvious that you and your friends have no political ambitions, seek no political jobs, share no plunder of office.

If the culprit in such a case were subject to the ordinary legal provisions for determining the sanity or insanity of honest citizens, they might place him under observation in the psychopathic ward or else where and rely upon the opinion of two medical men or experts subject, of course, to the sanction or approval of a judge of a court of record, all men presumably honorable, without personal prejudice, and not in the pay or friends or enemies of the individual whose sanity is under consideration. But such ordinary procedure would not be satisfactory to our large morose leisure class, nor juicy material for headlines in the papers nor means to opportunity for criminal lawyers to achieve instant distinction, nor a market for medical expert testimony. Indeed the minutest details of the thoughts, words or deeds of insane criminals or of criminals feigning insanity are of the utmost importance for the mental development of the youth of this country, and this would be snatched away if such a prisoner were treated as an ordinary honest citizen.

The medical conception of insanity, as I pointed out here the other day, is not the same as the legal conception. Many people who are medically insane are perfectly competent to conduct their own affairs and know right from wrong, so that they are legally sane. Then, too, there are at least twenty million morons in the country—adults whose mental capacity is that of a normal child from 8 to 12 years of age and a shrewd criminal lawyer or criminal psychologist would be able to make a fortune out of them. Indeed the minutest details of the thoughts, words or deeds of insane criminals or of criminals feigning insanity are of the utmost importance for the mental development of the youth of this country, and this would be snatched away if such a prisoner were treated as an ordinary honest citizen.

Not only medical expert testimony but all other partisan expert testimony, under hire by one side or the other, should be abolished from court procedure. The fair name of justice demands that such testimony come from a disinterested, unbiased expert or experts who shall have no more motive than the court itself for favoring either side.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Diet for Bright's Disease

The doctor said I have a slow form of Bright's disease. He said not to eat meat or eggs. What food do you recommend? (Mrs. A. M.)

Answer—Only your physician can tell you what diet you should follow. If a man, as a rule, patients with Bright's disease (chronic nephritis) may take meat and eggs and other wholesome food in reasonable quantity.

Most Curable Disease

Kindly tell me if it is possible to cure T. B. My "Doctor" tells me it can be cured! (M. E. O.)

Answer—T. B. is an abbreviation for tuberculosis, a curable disease. But probably you meant to inquire whether tuberculosis is curable. It is the most curable of all serious diseases. The abbreviation for tuberculosis is T. B.

Boy Friend Boozes

When the war broke out I was engaged to the nicest boy imaginable—he was in France three years and when he came home he drank badly—now he drinks periodically, going on sprees for weeks at a time, but often with intervals of many months. One of his friends told me that his father drank the same way and so it must be in his blood and he will never be different. . . . of course this makes me feel badly as I have tried so hard. . . . (E. H. E.)

Answer—The periodic drinker is the hardest to cure. If his father had a similar craving it may be that there is a streak of degeneracy in the family. I don't like to discourage you, but the only good advice I can give is that the man should voluntarily go under treatment for inebriation, for any good physician can give, provided the patient submits to proper care in hospital or sanitarium.

Teeth Soft

I have a lot of trouble with my teeth because they are very soft. What causes soft teeth? (Miss P. H. F.)

Answer—Faulty nutrition before birth and in early childhood. I can't say that the condition is remediable, but it will do no harm to try a course of cod liver oil and go in for green vegetables and salad (leafy) vegetables.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

THE LUCK OF EMIL LUDWIG

Mary Roberts Rinehart once made the shrewd observation that success in literature is almost fifty percent luck. It was a remarkable thing for her to say. She has been conspicuously successful herself, and a rule the successful are eager to claim that success is due solely or almost wholly to merit.

Whatever the percentage may be that luck plays in success in literature there is plenty of evidence to prove that it plays a part. Great reputations have sometimes been built on slender threads of mere chance. Great books have sometimes been rejected because some one had a headache or had quarreled with some one else, or missed a train, or was in a hurry to spend a weekend in the country. Weir Mitchell's "Hugh Wynne" was already in type for book publication and was to be issued the following week, when one of the members of the firm idly glanced at the galley proofs on a weekend train and decided on the spot to serialize the book in the Century magazine, postponing book publication for a year. This mere chance glance enormously increased the book's chances, converting it from a mere routine publication into a best seller and making its author's reputation.

There is a more recent example of luck in literature. Emil Ludwig, the German biographer who is now in this country lecturing, was the beneficiary of two old and distinguished houses. It was then sent to the publisher who has since made a hit with it but he was not interested in it. In fact, the book was allowed to lie untouched in the office safe for three months.

Except for a bit of pure luck it would in due time have been returned to the author and the chances are that today Emil Ludwig would be completely unknown, his other books begging for publication.

A member of the firm happened to be visiting one evening in the home of a cultivated German-American family, people who kept in touch with literature. "Germans," they had read "Napoleon" in the original and they were enthusiastic about it. Next morning the publisher fished the book out of his safe, had it passed on by competent readers, and in a few days the contract for its publication had been signed. In a few months this bit of pure luck had made for Ludwig a big reputation and more money than all the preceding years of writing.

There was still another bit of luck connected with "Napoleon," which was the title of the book. The publisher, who was a publisher of a sort, had decided to publish the book at five dollars a copy, the publishers expecting that the sale would be relatively small. And it would have been under ordinary circumstances. But one of the book-of-the-month clubs had taken it as one of its publications, insuring the sale of 40,000 in a single order. This allowed the publishers to reduce the price to three dollars, and that, together with the advertising the club gave it, put the book into the hundred thousand class within a few months.

It is of course obvious that if "Napoleon" had been dull and heavy there would have been no chance for luck to operate. Luck alone cannot make a reputation. But it is also obvious that Ludwig might easily have missed his reputation and the financial rewards of his labors if there had been no luck for him. If for instance that publisher had decided to spend that particular evening at a movie or at his club. Next day or next week the office boy might have wrapped up "Napoleon" and sent it back to its author. Since there had been several rejections Ludwig might have thrown it into a drawer for good. Pure luck turned the scales.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York — Second Avenue, in spite of all the invasions and intrusions of uptown architecture and atmosphere, remains Manhattan's melting pot of many lands, Olive-skinned women, with simple woolen shawls over their heads, still stand in doorway and jabber in broken Yiddish; young Russian girls still bob around corners, their huge black eyes flashing from under gaily-colored peasant shawls; old patriarchs still stand in groups at corners, wearing their frayed beards and their inevitable skull caps; Moskovitz still hammers his zimbardo; pretzel peddlers still clutter the curbstone, and the groups of passers-by sweep past laughing and gossiping in strange tongues.

The old world and the new meet here in violent interchange of habits and, year by year, the new world conquers.

At hasty glance one might conclude that the old world already has surrendered. The new theaters of Second Avenue are patterned after the new theaters of Broadway. The walls of the Russian cafes tell you that the balalaika orchestras now make phonograph records. The third, or flapper generation, swishes along, snapping its garters and bobbing its hair even as upon Sixth Avenue or Broadway. The third generation of flappers goes sleek and attends the very low burlesque shows on Houston street. The chorines of the Second Avenue musical shows go through the paces of yesterday's Broadway vintage and Molly Pitcher, favorite of the East Side, sings to the high and tumble hygienic school of stage behavior. The crowds that gather in the more obvious eating places are not of the ghetto or the old world. Euphorically, then, Second Avenue might seem no more the Main Street of many lands than Fifth Avenue.

Peering closer, though, you'll find that Second Avenue may have changed its spots, but not its habits. The theater facade may be of Broadway pattern, but it's different on the inside. Here they still eat peanuts in the parlor and drink the squalling youngsters in the foyer. Which reminds me—what ever happened to the women who used to bring their bawling babies to the theater?

Here they sell ice cream cones between acts and distribute mysterious "prize packages."

At the flapper may snap her garter but she turns into a tenement when her stroll is done. And inside these tenement rooms you'll find the Minorahs of the old Hebrew world and the sacramental wine hidden for the holy days; you'll find the matzo for the Passover and the sacred Torah. Or, jutting against the cafe frequented by the up-towners, you'll find a squat-looking coffee house where, hour upon hour, the intellectual old patriarchs sit and talk philosophy, history and art. They sit hour by hour, far into the night, eyes glistening in the excitement of heated argument. Or you'll see a wedding party celebrating in one of the many public halls and the dance music that comes therefrom is not of the jazz age, but is a Viennese Waltz or a Hungarian mazurka.

On Sunday nights the little zimbardo cafes spark the fire of gay Budapest. The gypsy violinist pours his soul into his fiddle and all about are the children of his homeland—yes, the same garter-snapping flapper and the new world sheik. And their gaiety is the gaiety of another world—a childlike, simple quality as far detached from the hectic jazzman as is Broadway as, let us say, Second Avenue is detached from the rest of New York.

The bureau does not answer questions pertaining to medicine nor does it express opinions on the merits of stocks and bonds. Send a 2-cent stamp or a stamped and self-addressed envelope with your question.

Q. Why is a cotton exchange formed? J. B. D.

A. An exchange is formed for the purpose of maintaining uniformity in the commercial usage of cotton, of establishing just and equitable principles in trade, of acquiring, preserving and disseminating valuable business information, and adjusting controversies between parties engaged in business. The main characteristics of dealing in exchanges is the fact that the goods dealt in are not physically present. The purchaser buys a specific quantity of goods of a definite character. It is this feature which adapts the exchanges to so marked a degree to speculation. Persons buy and sell without contemplation of future delivery but with reference to a future price.

Q. In what part of the United States do corn, wheat, and cotton grow side by side? R. A.

A. It is said of southeastern Missouri that it is the only district in the world where these three staple crops grow side by side to capacity yields.

WITHOUT REFERENCE TO CREED

It has always been our steadfast belief that the funeral director, being a professional man like a doctor or a lawyer should be called, and should serve, without thought of creed.

The consideration that should decide the choice of a funeral director is that of merit; the organization that can render the best service should be called.

RIVAL CANDIDATES FOR TOWN OFFICE AIR DISPUTE HERE

Grafmeier and Rohan Agree to Submit Quarrel to Jury of Three Judges

A dispute between John Grafmeier, chairman of the town of Buchanan, and William Rohan, a candidate for that office at the spring election over $1,000 spent on a county road in that town was to be aired before a committee of judges or attorneys at the courthouse Wednesday afternoon.

Rohan claims the $1,000 expended by the town for improvement on County Trunk - Q was illegally spent and he maintains the county should refund the money. Mr. Grafmeier challenged Rohan's statement and asked him to appear before a committee of impartial judges or lawyers and present both sides of the question. Rohan agreed to these conditions and the two men also have agreed to abide by the decision of the committee.

The $1,000 appropriation was made at the April election in 1927. Mr. Grafmeier then petitioned the county board to appropriate another $1,000 and the petition was granted.

The town of Buchanan had work done on this road which cost $2,000 and the county later is to refund one-half of that amount.

At the February session of the county board Mr. Rohan presented a petition asking that the original $1,000 appropriation voted by the taxpayers of his town be refunded because the entire procedure had been illegal and not in accordance with state laws. The board denied the petition.

Mr. Grafmeier, who is a candidate for reelection, maintains the procedure was legal.

CLEAN CHAPEL GATES AFTER HUNDRED YEARS

London—(P)—For the first time in more than 100 years the great bronze gates of Henry VII's chapel in Westminster Abbey are being cleaned.

The marvelous fashioning of these gates was last fully revealed when in preparation for the coronation of George IV of England, who ordered them to be gilded all over. For some time afterwards they looked like variable gates of gold.

The cleaning now going on is bringing to light patches of gilt that have withstood the wear of a century, but the old bronze, now visible, outshines it.

The gates are of priceless value. They are of the best examples of the work of Pietro Torrigiano, fellow pupil of Michael Angelo. A man of most tempestuous temperament, it is recorded that Torrigiano in one of his frequent outbursts broke a chisel at Michael Angelo and broke his nose.

U. S. Once Held Millions Of Indians, Scientists Say

Washington—(P)—The white man's diseases, his unfamiliar forms of dissipation and his firearms were the principal causes of the decline of the Indian race on the American continent north of Mexico.

This is the burden of the first comprehensive scientific study of the aboriginal population of America, undertaken about a quarter century ago by the late James Mooney for the bureau of American ethnology and just published by the Smithsonian Institution, as compiled from his manuscripts, notes and tables by James H. Stuntz of the bureau.

From an estimated population of 1,153,000 before the white man came, Mr. Mooney's tables disclose, the aborigines had dwindled by 1907 to about 406,000. Many tribes had passed out of existence, others had dropped off to a handful of survivors and still others had been absorbed by more powerful tribes and confederations. Relatively few showed a numerical increase, and in almost every instance that was attributed to the intermixture of white or negro blood and the absorption of smaller or inadequately armed neighbors.

Slave raids, intertribal wars, hopeless resistance against the newcomers, confinement in missions and reservations, starvation and other developments incidental to the white man's progress added to the ravages of his vices and diseases, of which smallpox was the most destructive, in the process of bringing down the red man. Mr. Mooney found "Discussing the fate of the numerous tribes in the Gulf states region, he told how, in the period between 1690 and 1720, which embraced a great smallpox epidemic, "slave raids organized by the English of Carolina were very destructive of Indian life, the Chickasaw and Creeks,

SCHWAB DOESN'T HAVE TO BUTTON HIS SHOES

New York—(P)—A curious person noted that Charles M. Schwab was the only man wearing button shoes when the Aquitania arrived from abroad.

"Well, I'll tell you," explained Mr. Schwab, "I wear them because I don't have to button them myself. I get someone else to do it for me. Good reason, eh?"

Also Mr. Schwab never goes to a tailor. He's found one just his size and telephones him when he wishes a new suit.

AUTOMATIC MAIL BOX INVENTION OF GERMAN

Berlin—(P)—Patent for a mail box with an automatic stamping device has been applied for by a Leipzig inventor. The apparatus is described as simple and effective, consisting of a series of different coloring and printing cylinders. The proper coin is dropped into a slot and the letter receives the imprint of a stamp on its way into the box. The machine is also equipped to return superfluous change automatically.

Accounts are kept by a small adding machine attached to the apparatus. Renewal of the colored stamping pads and oiling of the machinery are the only attention the device needs. Leipzig postal authorities are experimenting with the invention.

Stores Dressed Up For Displaying Spring Styles

Spring and Fashion have come hand-in-hand to the avenue.

If you will walk down the row of shop windows tomorrow you will see what has been ushered in by the bright, new season.

Appleton shops will hold open house and will display all that is new from 7:30 to 9 o'clock Wednesday evening. Mannequins will show the latest modes in ready-to-wear garments and in footwear.

Hosiery will be the feature of one store. A huge ruby ring and display of hosiery will furnish the background of a unique window fashion show. Three models will demonstrate the type of stocking to be worn for afternoon, sport, and evening wear.

Mrs. Rencie Roesele, who put on the present, "Romance of Hosiery" at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago, is in charge of the hosiery show.

In the hosiery displays you will see the square, standard heel, the pointed heel, the V. heel, and any amount of fancy heels in the new stockings.

Service weights, chiffons, service chiffons, Isles, lace, and mesh — all will be seen in the Spring show.

And the new colors! Of course the blazes from the lightest to the very darkest shades lead the season. And they all have the prettiest names like noon, breeze, dawn, tea tan, kasha, and the like.

The grey shades are next to the blues in popularity. And the gun metal still holds sway in fashion circles.

Other stores have planned informative, artistic displays. A department made up of children's dresses, gloves, hosiery, handkerchiefs, slippers and such is emphasized by another shop. The dresses are made of English prints, most of them having designs which tell a story.

And all kinds of dress goods! English prints of all type of design, new printed piques for sport, linens, cotton materials which look like silk are among the displays.

Rayon has become a significant factor in style. It will be shown in fine, soft lingerie, in sport materials, in georgette and of course, materials are draped over forms to show how they will look when made up. Various colors in silks give the material an entirely different effect. Hosiery made of rayon are full-fashioned and have exceptional wearing qualities.

Ready-to-wear dresses, coats, and suits will be shown for all kinds of wear. The ensemble especially will be emphasized in silk and in wool.

JUDGE WANTS TO SEE JUST HOW GOOD THE CHILD DRIVERS ARE

Jurist Plans to Take Ride With Each One Before Granting License

Although County Judge Fred V. Heinemann has not yet received application blanks for drivers' permits for boys and girls under 16 years of age, he said he has received many inquiries since the law was adopted by the state legislature at its special session.

Blanks are expected soon by the judge and after he has a supply he will begin taking applications for licenses. Licenses cannot be issued by the secretary of state to anyone under 16 years of age unless the applicant presents a written recommendation from the judge of the county in which he resides.

The license is of different color than the regular drivers' licenses and they are of no value after the driver has reached the age of 16. Minors to whom such licenses are issued may drive an automobile owned by either his parents or his guardian. He may drive from 30 minutes before sunrise until 30 minutes after sunset and is prohibited from driving a motorcycle, commercial truck, motor bus or taxicab. Parents of guardians of the minor are responsible for any damage growing out of the negligent driving of the minor licensee.

The county judge cannot recommend a license for a child under 16 unless he has appeared before the judge with his parents or guardian, and satisfied the judge that he is more than 14 years of age, that he is able to handle a car and that he knows the rules of the road.

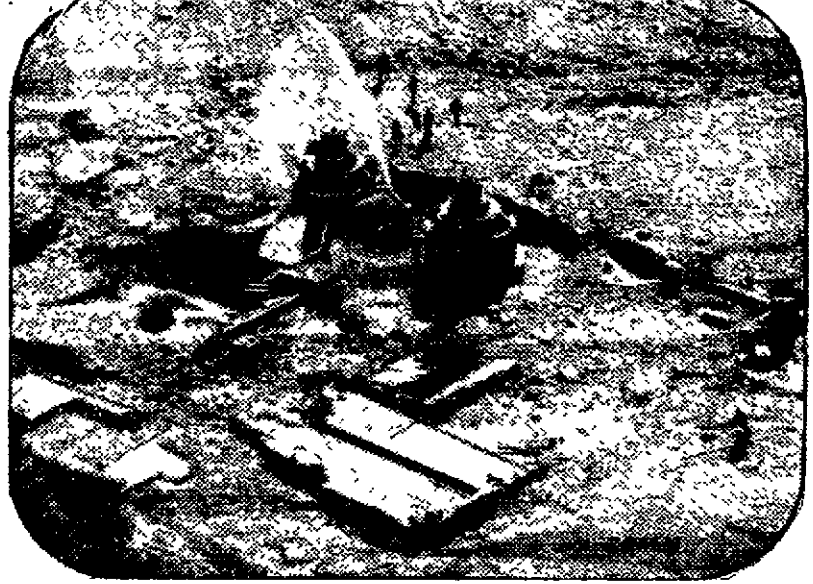

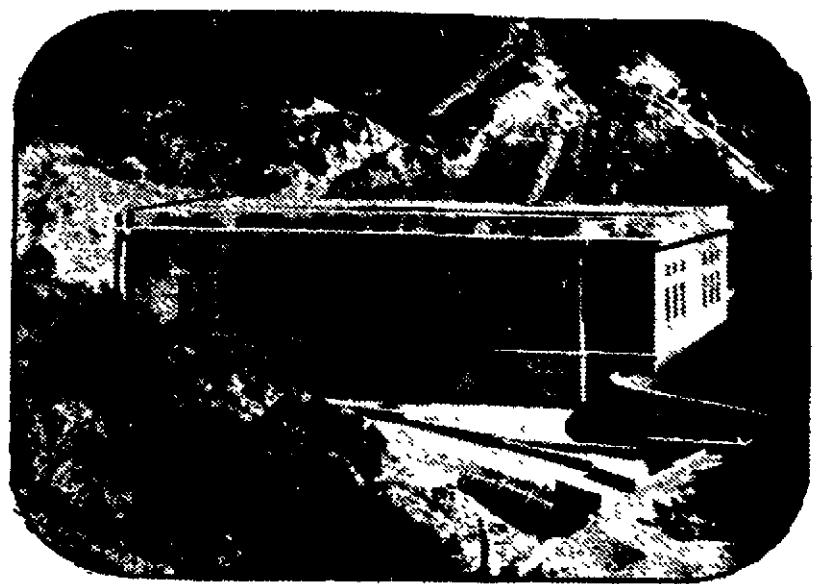

Judge Heinemann declared that in many cases it would be necessary for him to go along with the applicant to determine whether he could handle a car properly. He said he contemplated taking out more life insurance before he started on that task.

"Probably will be spending every summer afternoon touring about the countryside," said the judge.

Parents or guardians who seek permits or their son or daughter under 16 to be licensed to drive will have to prove to Judge Heinemann that it is essential and necessary that the boy or girl drive the car.

BEFORE AND AFTER FLOOD

Here is graphically pictured the destruction wrought by the wall of water that swept through the San Francisco canyon near Los Angeles after the St. Francis Dam broke. The half million dollar power plant at the foot of the canyon, the first building to be struck by the flood's force, is pictured before and after the disaster that wiped out the ponderous concrete structure. Only two of the great turbines and the foundations of the building are visible.

DUKE WINS BACK TITLE FROM BRANDY BOTTLER

Paris —(AP)— A duke can't sell his children's title to a brandy house. He can do anything with it he wishes while he is alive but when the title has passed on, the ducal heir is the only one who can put it on the market.

Courts, therefore, after three years litigation have given the Duke of Montebello full right to his name and have ordered a brandy company to discontinue using it. The brandy man isn't happy because he paid the for-

CLAIMS DISSATISFACTION OVER ZONING ORDINANCE

An ordinance, designed to alleviate dissatisfaction with the present zoning law has been prepared by Alderman Mark Catlin, first ward, and will be presented to the common council Wednesday night.

Alderman Catlin's ordinance provides that all businesses, operating as such when the zoning ordinance went into effect, will not be subject to the provisions of the zoning ordinance.

"About 90 per cent of the protests we receive are from merchants who were in business when the ordinance was adopted but whose properties were not placed in a business district and therefore they cannot expand," Mr. Catlin said.

mer duke a goodly sum for the trademarked name.

What complicated matters was that Napoleon created Marshal Lannes, Duke of Montebello but authorized him only to pass it down in direct line. The fourth duke died without issue and the title went to an uncle but previously King Louis XVIII had included the Montebello title in the peerage which carried with it the right to pass the title to collateral heirs. It was the king's action, therefore, that governed the courts of this republic although three republics have succeeded the overthrown royal regime.

TO RELIEVE STOMACH DILATION

Dilation of the stomach usually arises because excess stomach acid causes food to ferment and form sour gases which are responsible for those unpleasant sensations of swelling and fullness, often very painful.

To avoid and relieve stomach dilation take a tablet of "Pape's Diapepsin" after meals or when pain is felt. "Pape's Diapepsin" neutralizes acidity and prevents the formation of wind, heartburn and flatulence, and insures healthy painless digestion.

Druggists everywhere sell "Pape's Diapepsin" at 60 cents a package—not much to pay for complete freedom from digestive pain and stomach troubles, is it? Better get your package of "Pape's Diapepsin" today. adv.

RHINOCEROS WORTH $5,000 F. O. B. LONDON

English Zoo Has Prices on Every Animal from Giraffe to Sacred Baboon

London England—(AP)—Rhinoceoses like the one bagged by George Eastman at Rochester, N. Y., in Central Africa the other day are worth approximately $5,000 in captivity.

The latest price list of the London zoo shows the rhinoceros to be the most valuable animal of the entire lot, birds and reptiles included. The hippopotamus is also a costly pet, but not quite so valuable as the rhino. The price really depends upon supply and demand, and as a rule there is only a few dollars difference in the quotations.

Lions are at a discount at present.
Too many hunters of big game have been successful in catching the king of beasts in his native haunts, and the market has suffered. There are eleven lions at the London zoo, worth about $200 each.

The tiger market is better, good specimens being valued at from $500 to $800 each.

The zoo's price list includes:
Hippopotamus $4,500
Elephants 3,500
Young giraffe 3,000
Sacred baboons 50
Zebras 750

Hythons (Sold by the foot)
Giant tortoise (Sold by weight)
Birds of paradise 200
King penguins 375
Monkeys $40 and up
Bears $350 and up Gorilla (Price depends upon size, age and disposition)

The price of an elephant varies.
A good tempered elephant pays for its feed as it goes, bringing in from $1,000 to $1,500 a year by carrying children about on its back.
Young giraffes are always in demand, but there is no market for full grown ones. The difficulty is the long neck which will not permit their shipment by railroad.

FOREIGN STUDENTS CUT GERMAN UNIVERSITIES

Berlin—(AP)—German universities are becoming alarmed at the apparent reluctance of foreign students to come to this country, which was once the spiritual home of thousands of young men in search of learning.

Americans especially are becoming scarce: a fact which is much regretted here. Thirty years ago 20 percent of all young Americans who went abroad to study came to Germany.
Now Goettling and Heidelberg know them no more—certainly not to the extent of former times.

It is true, of course, that opportunities for study at home universities in the United States have grown enormously of late years, but it is equally true that American students since the war have gone in increasing numbers to England and France.

It is estimated that 10,000 Chinese students are receiving their university training abroad, mostly in the United States. Russians, who were very numerous here before the war, now prefer Paris or Prague.

Scandinavian and Balkan students alone have remained, more or less faithful to German high schools.
Reinhold Schaller, financial head of the German Students' Association, who sets forth the above facts in a report, appeals urgently for government grants or financial aid from wealthy philanthropists so that Germany may once more attract foreign students to its seats of learning.

PRICE OF LONDON EGGS REACHES NEW HIGH MARK

London—(AP)—Now that eggs cost 4 pence, or 6 cents, each, London has drawn the curtain of time for a peep at a domestic budget in the days when Good Queen Bess wore her crown.

Eggs were about 2 pence a dozen.
A goose cost one shilling and six pence, or about 36 cents, a chicken 6 pence, a pound of butter 2 pence, oranges 2 pence a dozen.

Items of a supper enjoyed May 28, 1589, with costs, follow: A shoulder of mutton, 1 shilling, 4 pence; three pinks of strawberries, 1 shilling; four pints of claret, 1 shilling; for butter to butter chick, 2 pence; and bread and beer (which always figured largely in meals of 350 years ago) 10 pence.

Other entries in a mistress's own handwriting at the British museum, include: A goose, 1 shilling; four soles, 8 pence; a barrel of beer, 4 shillings, and beef at 1-1-2 pence a pound.
Many items in the clothing accounts are equally as modest. Pair of shoes for his worship, 2 shillings 9 pence; pair of gloves, 1 shilling 6 pence.

Servants were paid 20 to 50 shillings a year, or, at the most, $12.50 and keep.

SHORTEN NURSES' SKIRTS FOR MOUSE PROTECTION

London—(AP)—Nurses at the Enfield Isolation Hospital of World's End have been granted permission to wear shortened skirts because of the plague of mice.

The mice for months have centered their attentions on the nurses' quarters, until the dwellers therein were constantly on the verge of prostration.
The mice got into the beds of the young women, chased about their bed rooms, got into the bath rooms, reared families under the floors and made themselves at home generally. The nurses simply defied all efforts to exterminate them, and made the professional mice catchers wish they were engaged in another profession.

At a meeting of the hospital board it was suggested that the buildings in which the nurses live should be handed over to the mice, and new accommodations sought for the young ladies. As a last resort, however, the board asked the surveyor to recommend a remedy, and he suggested shorter skirts as a measure for temporary relief.

AGED MONTANA PIONEER RECALLS EARLY TRAVEL

Butte, Mont.—(AP)—When William Berkin came to Montana in 1863, the Missouri river was the state's main highway.

Recently, when he celebrated his hundred and first birthday anniversary, he recalled that he constructed the road from Fort Benton, then head of navigation on the Missouri river, to Virginia City, territorial capital, and that the road now is the principal thoroughfare between these points.

Berkin also laid out the road between Butte and the terminus of the Utah and Northern railroad at Corinne, Utah, over which the first copper ores from Montana went to market.

U. S. Chinese Band To Put End To Tong War Murders

San Francisco—(AP)—It is unlikely that there ever will be another serious tong war in the United States, influential members of the Chinese Peace association say.

The organization, known in the vernacular as "Wi Ping Woey," has been functioning 14 years and is steadily becoming more of a power in preserving amity between clans, big families, societies and factions of Oriental residents in America.

"Any one wanting to be peaceful" can join the association, an officer of the San Francisco chapter explains.
The local chapter was the first organized and has the largest number of members. There are chapters in many other American cities, and each has equal ranking, differing from the Chinese court system, in which the San Francisco tribunal is recognized as supreme.

The various chapters are similar in structure. A president is elected for two years, Lee Ching Yat holding the position here. There is an executive committee of 20 members, appointed by other associations, clans, tongs, and principal families.

Finding that it is more difficult to settle an outbreak after violence has been committed than to head it off, an effort is made to compromise disputes before serious trouble has occurred.

Loyal members of the association are scattered throughout the country.
One of them, learning that trouble is brewing, writes or telegraphs to the secretary of the nearest peace association. The president immediately calls a meeting of the executive committee.
The committee discusses the matter and probably names an arbiter, whose expenses are paid to the scene of the trouble, but who works without pay.
If the arbiter cannot harmonize the differences he endeavors to prevail on the disputants to come before the executive committee of the chapter a whole, and the matter is threshed out at conferences.

STUART ORIGINALS SHOWN ON CENTENARY

Famous Portrait of American Revolution Placed on Exhibition

New York—(P)—The centenary observance of the anniversary of the death of Gilbert Stuart, famous portraitist of the American Revolutionary period, is being commemorated here with an exhibition of 14 Stuart originals.

It is the first time in 20 years that such a collection of the American master's works has been on public view.

Stuart, whose famous full-length portrait of George Washington is generally accepted as the best delineation of the first president, was considered not only one of the greatest American portrait painters, but one of the greatest in the world. Most of those famous in the Revolutionary period of American history sought Stuart to have their likenesses put on canvas.

The portraits of two Revolutionary war generals—Major Gen. Henry Dearborn and Gen. Henry Knox—are in the current exhibition. Portraits of Mrs. Hannah More, English poetess; Mrs. Benjamin Tappan, Stephen Van Rensselaer; Col. John Trumbull, the artist and John Logan, are among others on display.

STAGE And SCREEN

MAY McAVOY DRAWING CROWDS TO FISCHER'S 'A RENO DIVORCE'

"A Reno Divorce" is the Warner Bros. attraction starring May McAvoy now at the Fischer's Theatre. The production is a brilliant comedy-drama which has the unique distinction of having been written and directed by Ralph Graves, who also plays lead. The story was dramatized by Robert Lord and the cast includes Hedda Hopper, Robert Ober, Anders Randolph, William Demarest and Edwards Davis.

May McAvoy plays the part of a charming but reckless society girl, who is possessed of the not uncommon desire to outstep the speediest. This latter tendency causes her to knock down a young artist, whom she, at once picks up, conveys to her home and nurses, with the usual felicitous results. The arrival of the Franes, a newly-divorced couple, complicates matters and introduces the menace. Frane tries to win Carla through her fondness for games of chance, while the former Mrs. Frane angles for the stranger. The story is powerfully motivated and sweeps up to an astonishing climax. May McAvoy, who has won an enviable reputation in such plays as "Lady Windermere's Fan," "Sentimental Tommy," "The Enchanted Lady," "Matinee Ladies," "The Passionate Quest," and "Irish Hearts," adds materially to her fame in "A Reno Divorce." Don't fail to see it.

"THE PATENT LEATHER KID"

The regeneration of an East Side boxer, through the travail of war and the love of a woman, is the graphic story of First National's "The Patent Leather Kid," coming to the Elite Theatre for an entire week engagement starting Saturday.

"The Patent Leather Kid" stars Richard Barthelmess, and is an ideal vehicle for the artistry of this young screen star whose work in "Tolable Avid," "Broken Blossoms," and "Way out East" will never be forgotten. In "The Patent Leather Kid" Barthelmess is said to exceed even his finest efforts in these former vehicles.

Ideal story material was offered in "The Patent Leather Kid" from the great epic of the U. S. tank corps by Rupert Hughes. The adaptation was by Adel Rogers St. John and the continuity by Winifred Dunn.

"The Patent Leather Kid" is an Alfred Santell production, under the production management of Al Rocke and photographed by Arthur Edson. With an all-star cast and scene of the finest war spectacles ever seen on the screen, it has been rated as one of the biggest pictures of the decade.

It also offers a new screen star, Molly O'Day, who plays opposite Barthelmess and who has proved a screen find by her clever work in this picture.

GERMAN STUDENTS SOON FORGOT MUCH WISDOM

Berlin—(P)—Test examinations conducted by the director of the Dresden school on 100 young people about nine months after they had left the public schools revealed an astounding lack of erudition, writes Professor Paul Hildebrandt in the "Vossische Zeitung."

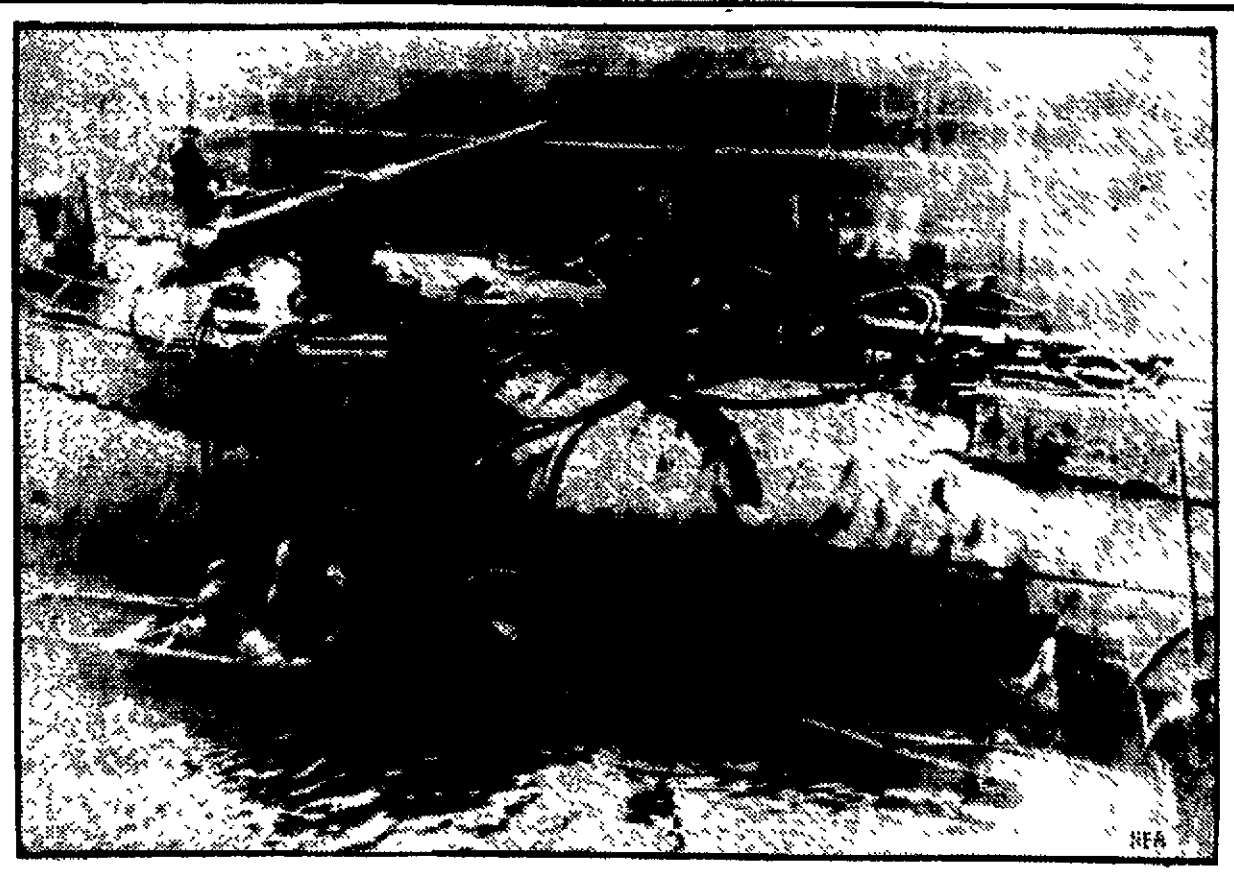

Simple questions elicited such startling answers as: "Napoleon was the first to circumnavigate the American continent," "Columbus invented the north pole," "The mouse is a beast of prey," etc. Only 42 per cent of the examined youths and maidens knew who Napoleon was, 51 per cent that Prussia was the kingdom of Frederick the Great, 56 per cent could give the dates of the beginning and end of the world war, and the same percentage that water freezes at 0.0 degrees C.

These results acted as an incentive for the Dresden Teachers' Association to repeat the examination questions, this time on 200 undergraduates of the city's grammar schools, with better results. Seventy-seven per cent could correctly designate the present century, 79 per cent were familiar with Napoleon, 91 per cent knew that Prussia was governed by Frederick the Great, 71 per cent knew the dates of the world war and 89 per cent that water freezes at 0.0 degrees C.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

Yesterday the following problem was given: The contract, Hearts; South, Declarer, North, Dummy; the initial lead is shown. How should Declarer operate his twenty-six cards?

DECLARER'S PLAN OF CAMPAIGN?

Declarer will see that his combined hands will produce six trump tricks, two Diamond tricks, one Spade trick and two Club tricks, so there is no question about the game; but with so strong a hand he wants at least a Small Slam. If he should depend solely upon the success of the Club finesse for his slam, he would fail if the King of Clubs be held by West, because he has a losing Spade in each hand. Getting one discard from Closed Hand on Dummy's Ace of Diamonds will not help because the discard will be either a Spade which Dummy could trump, or a Club which would be a winner even if the Club finesse won, a Small Slam if it lost. In discards, however, would be a very different story because Declarer then could make a Grand Slam if the Club finesse won a Small Slam if it lost. In order to try for the double discard, Declarer should attempt to establish Dummy's Diamonds, as follows: Pass the first Diamond trick up to the King in the Closed Hand; trick 2, lead a small trump from Closed Hand, winning in Dummy; trick 3, either the Ace of Diamonds or a small Diamond from Dummy. The small lead is a shade the safer because it is just possible that the opening Diamond lead was a singleton. That is not likely but there is no need to take an unnecessary risk. Declarer, leading a small Diamond from Dummy to trick 3, will trump with an honor in Closed Hand and note carefully whether both adversaries follow. If they do, he will lead another small trump

LIFE MEASURED BY HOW IT IS LIVED, GOVERNOR SAYS

Life is measured by the honor and happiness that one lives into his life. Governor Fred R. Zimmerman told the students of Appleton high school Tuesday afternoon.

Success in life brings happiness, which cannot be bought, borrowed, or even stolen. "Believe and live happiness and you will go out determined to do the best in life and make the best of the opportunities for service," the governor said.

"Many opportunities exist for developing the world in which we live and everyone of you will fit in somewhere," Governor Zimmerman said.

Education like a tool is a valuable when used and used correctly. The interest of high school students in the city, county, state and national government at the present time is indeed impressive, said the speaker.

JEALOUSY CAUSE OF HOLDING UP BILLS FOR TOUR TO SOUTH

Officials, Both Big and Small,
Air Grievances Around State Capitol

Madison.—(P)—And a little menu was the start of it all.

A railroad official, legislators, and state officials participated Wednesday in a meeting that attempted to settle differences that have arisen since, and arose during the Official State of Wisconsin Southern Tour.

The train legislative committee was the group summoned by C. A. Beggs, Rice Lake, secretary-treasurer of the group. The immediate business was finances of the trip.

But if the Wichita Chamber of Commerce ever entertains another tour party, it should make certain who is in charge before printing the menus. When the tour party of 150 or more Badger citizens reached the Kapsas plains city, things were settling along nicely. There had been some mention of one or the other being rather prominently before the camera of the official train photographer, but no distinct expressions of dissatisfaction had been heard. But the first printed menu to be presented to the tourists carried the name of Mr. Beggs at its head as secretary-treasurer of the tour committee. There were those who contended that, if one of the committee names were put on, other or all of them should go on.

The traditional rivalry between the upper and lower houses of the legislature became more apparent. There was discussion upon whose name was most mentioned in newspapers along the route; there was further discussion of who was called upon to preside over the banquet meetings, and who should be or was the most frequent speaker for the Badger tourists. It grew.

It grew without the knowledge of most of the tourists and without sanction or participation of many of the state officials and private individuals on the tour. Committee meetings, in which it was discussed failed to squelch it completely, and when it again came to life as some member of the party took the speakers' gavel, the remarks made even in the committee meeting were considered debate material.

The train returned. The bills came in.

Senator J. H. Carroll, Glidden, chairman of the legislative committee, ordered payment stopped on a check for $5,000 to the Milwaukee road, whose yellow coaches carried the Badger tourists through the south. He held that as chairman the bills should have been checked and approved by him. Mr. Beggs and Mr. Carroll, according to E. F. Immer, the railroad's representative, both signed the warrant for the check. Mr. Beggs and Mr. Carroll were reported to have gone through several days in the capitol without speaking. Today this matter was before the committee. Mr. Immer planned to present other matters. There was, he holds, a little matter of several hundred dollars for envelopes, cap-pen work on the coaches, and their decoration, even possibly some postage loaned the committee previous to the legislature's appropriation of $5,000.

The audit today, if any, was to be faced with a new difficulty—a bill for $400 from the company that installed the refrigeration in the dairy products car.

A report that all of the pictures of State Treasurer Solomon Levitan had been ordered cut from the official film of the tour was heard previous to the committee meeting. Echoing this was the Levitan statement that he, the only constitutional officer on the tour, had been kept from the speakers' rostrum an undue number of times. Came then the report that pictures of the whole legislative committee had been ordered stricken from the official film record.

The check for the train photographer, the check for the railroad company, little questions involving financial matters of all sorts that have come up since the tour, threatened to mix with little questions of intra-legislative etiquette, inter-state travel, and back-home reaction.

And a little white menu led it all on.

Jefferson's Letter Tells Estimate Of Washington

Nashville, Tenn.—(P)—Thomas Jefferson's own estimate of George Washington is contained in a letter which the third president wrote 114 years ago.

The letter, now a part of the Randolph collection of Jefferson documents, was addressed to Dr. Walter Jones on January 2, 1814. It described the revolutionary leader as "a wise, a good and a great man."

Washington's mind was "great and powerful" but "slow in operation," Jefferson declared, while "his heart was not warm in its affections."

"Perhaps the strongest feature of his character was prudence," Jefferson wrote.

"Never acting until every circumstance, every consideration, was maturely weighed; refraining if he saw a doubt, but, when once decided, going through with his purpose, whatever obstacles opposed. His integrity was most pure, his justice the most inflexible I have ever known, no motives of interest or consanguinity, of friendship or hatred being able to bias his decision."

"His temper was naturally irritable and high toned; but reflection and reason had obtained a firm and habitual ascendancy over it. If ever, however, it broke its bonds, he was most tremendous in his wrath."

"In his expenses he was honorable, but exact; liberal in contributions to whatever promised utility; but sparing and unsparing on all visionary projects, and all unworthy calls on his charity. . . . He exactly calculated every man's value, and gave him a solid esteem proportioned to it. . . .

"In public, when called on for a sudden opinion, he was unready, short and embarrassed. Yet he wrote readily, rather diffusely, in an easy and correct style. This he had acquired by conservation with the world, for his education was merely reading, writing and common arithmetic, to which he added surveying at a later day. . . .

The winner of the county contest will win a free trip to the state fair at Milwaukee next fall and the right to represent the county in the state contests.

"On the whole, his character was, in its mass, perfect, in nothing bad, in few points indifferent; and it may be truly said, that never did nature and fortune combine more perfectly to make a man great, and to place him in the same constellation with whatever worthies have merited from man an everlasting remembrance."

Modern Day Rip Van Winkle On Way To Tell His Story To Americans

New York — Alfred Aloysius Smith, modern Rip Van Winkle is determined to prove to the land that lined his pockets with gold that he is neither a myth nor a liar.

When Rip came down from the Catskills, his rough beard tumbling towards his knees and his clothes in tatters, they scoffed at his tales. And when "Trader Horn," as he has become known from sea to sea, came peddling his gridirons at the doorsteps of a Johannesburg, South Africa, his yarns of adventures met upon the African west coast seemed quite as incredible as Rip's.

Like Rip he had been given up as dead. Like Rip he had loved his taverns, his convivial companions, and his irresponsibilities. Like Rip he had come out with a scraggly beard and tattered garb.

Like Rip, 50 many strange things had befallen him that his fading memory clutched feebly first at one memory and then another, piecing together finally as fantastic a saga as ever was penned. And America read most avidly of all.

$4,000 A WEEK ROYALTIES
So the peddler of gridirons, who once in the jungle "had seen a white goddess . . . auburn was her hair . . . dark auburn," suddenly found himself with $4,000 a week in book royalties jingling in his pocket. And although his health is tottering and his strength is given way, has just arrived in America.

This is not his first visit to these shores. He saw much of America in his younger years. In his book there is the ironic commentary: "Yea, Americans are a moral people, except when it comes to murder. They must have novelties, whether in new breakfast foods or literary matters."

This modern Rip found waiting for him an elaborate hotel suite. The literati of the land welcomed him and he was feasted, honored and toasted. Cameras clicked and the radio bid for his voice. He was prepared for all this as he sailed. Trader Horn purchased a new black hat in London and one of those very English capes. He had his beard trimmed and his shoes shined.

If there is anyone here to question his veracity, he will have his chest and shoulders to show the world the scars of a lion's claw and the long wound of an African "assegai." If strength permits him he will lecture on the days when he became "blood brother to the cannibals," and of the life and death struggle for ivory on the Ogov River.

He will be plunged from the apothecary of the primal into the pride and joy of our particular form of civilization. Trader Horn, according to his chronicles, came to an eminently respectable English family. As a youth he ran away to sea and found himself in the African ivory belt, with a "white goddess" to save him from death and innumerable years of primitive struggle ahead of him.

ENGLISHMAN DISCOVERS HIM
He was discovered a couple of years ago by Ethelreda Lewis, an English author, who was writing in a South African literary colony. The old man came to her doorsteps, a peddler. She engaged him in conversation and, from his stumbling, rambling conversation, began to piece together a story that left her spell bound.

Finally she arranged to have him write these memories down in his own way and she edited them. The result was an immediate best seller that turned Trader Horn from a jungle beggar to a rich man.

The windfall came of course when he was too old to do much about his wealth. He can merely dedicate himself to a curious world; a bored and work weary world that likes its Rip Van Winkles, and adores apparitions that come walking out of the African jungles with tales of "white goddesses" left somewhere in the brackish background.

EARLY DAYS RECALLED DURING TEXAS REUNION
San Antonio, Texas —(AP)— Two white boys who were captured by Comanche Indians 60 years ago and lived with the tribe for several years met old friends this month when veterans of Texas' cattle trails held their annual reunion.

Among 50 Comanches who took part in the reunion two sons of chiefs recognized Clint and Jeff Smith as boyhood pals who shared berries, nuts and other juvenile spoils in the Indian village.

Clint was 9 years old and his brother 6 when they were captured at Leon Springs, 20 miles from San Antonio. The boys' parents finally obtained their release in a trade. Clint now is 69 and his brother 66.

RESEARCH WORKERS FIND WAX IN ENGLISH PEAT

London —(AP)—The lowly peat bed may never rival the honeycomb as a source of wax, but British scientists have succeeded in extracting wax from the partially carbonized material that is used for fuel in some parts of the world.

With chloroform, benzene or mixtures of benzene and alcohol as solvents, the research workers have obtained a wax yield of from 6 to 25 percent from peat. Extraction does not seriously diminish the value of the peat as fuel.

MANUFACTURER MAKES FALSE TEETH OF STEEL

Berlin —(AP)—False teeth made of steel are among the peace products which the Krupp firm of Essen are turning out now. Various grades of non-rusting steel have been on the market for some time, but the new so-called V. A. steel is acid proof as well.

It is the invention of Professor Strauss, of the Krupp Works, who gained the gold Bunsen medal recently for his success. Steel teeth are claimed to be even superior to gold in durability and at the same time are much cheaper.

POWERFUL CAMERA CAN "TAKE" BLAST CLOSE-UPS

Pittsburgh —(AP)—Close-up photographs of test explosions set off by engineers of the United States Bureau of Mines in their search for an explosive that will minimize the danger of coal mine disasters, are now made possible by an apparatus invented by J. E. Tiffany.

Mr. Tiffany, attached to the Bureau's experiment station here, has designed a special camera that snaps the blasts as they are fired from a small cannon into a large sealed gallery. A horizontal slot cut into the shell of the tunnel and closed by a series of 20 plate glass windows gives the camera a chance to record the phenomena taking place when a charge of explosive is fired into a combustible air mixture.

In expectation of increased travel, railway lines between Riga and Indrag, the Soviet Russian frontier, are to be strengthened.

Millions call it
"The best of all mealtime drinks!"
Make the personal health test — and you'll know why!

SLEEPLESSNESS, nervousness—these and many other reasons have prompted people to start drinking Postum. But they have continued drinking it for one reason only—because they found it was the best of all mealtime drinks for them!

Nor did they make this decision overnight. They made Postum their mealtime drink for thirty days, in place of beverages containing the drug caffeine. They found they missed nothing in enjoyment—that Postum is a great drink in its own right. A drink made of roasted whole wheat and bran, with a rich, enticing aroma, and a smooth, full-bodied flavor.

Health gains, too!
These Postum "testers" found that Postum agreed with them, too—that, unlike caffeine beverages, it never kept them awake, never attacked their nerves or heart, or caused indigestion. On a basis of results, they decided, at the end of thirty days, to make Postum their mealtime drink for life!

After all, isn't it sensible to give up something that hurts you for something that helps you, when you lose nothing in enjoyment by the change? Today—decide to give Postum a fair trial! Try it for thirty days! Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both cost much less than most other mealtime drinks. Order today!

Architects Offered Prize For Best 'Hot Dog' Stand

New York —(AP)—Efforts to beautify roadside stands which minister to the wants of tourists have been carried to the architects who design them.

The Art Center of New York, which lately awarded prizes provided by Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to the proprietors of the handsomest wayside refreshment stands, has announced a new contest, in which prizes are to be given for the best architectural plans for the structures along the highways.

Ten thousand dollars have been contributed by a sausage making company for the furtherance of art in the edifices which purvey its products, and from this fund and that provided by Mrs. Rockefeller will come awards to be bestowed on March 15.

Five prizes are offered for the best plans for refreshment stands with gasoline stations in conjunction and five for stands without the filling tanks. The awards range downward from $500.

Architects must submit the plans in blueprint form. The winning ones will be embellished with specifications and more detailed drawings, which will be made available to any who desire to erect model stands along the lines approved by the Art Center and the groups cooperating with it in the competition.

Seven organizations are enlisted with the Art Center in the campaign for more comely roadside stands. The American Civic Association, the American

Adjustable Valve Tappets
The improved valve-in-head motor of the new Chevrolet has adjustable valve tappets—a feature which assures continued motor efficiency and quietness and prevents gradual loss of power and acceleration as the car is used.

Rugged One-Piece Rear Axle
The rear axle of the Chevrolet is a unit pressed by millions of miles of use. The differential mechanism and side gears are securely mounted, while the housing is the one-piece type fitted with an inspection flange for convenient, inexpensive adjustment.

"Invar Struts" Pistons
Constant clearance alloy pistons, designed with two "invar struts" in each, make the Chevrolet motor smoother, snappier and more powerful. The costly "invar struts" minimize expansion and contraction, permitting close fitting pistons to insure quietness and efficient operation.

Ball Bearing Steering Gear
The new Chevrolet handles with marvel, ease and surety—for the worn and creaking steering mechanism is fitted with ball bearings throughout, even at the four axle knuckles.

MARGARET GRIGNON, PIONEER OF COUNTY, DIES IN 80TH YEAR

Father and Grandfather Were Among Original Settlers at Kaukauna

Miss Margaret E. Grignon, a member of the oldest and one of the most prominent families of the Fox river valley, died in Appleton Monday night after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Grignon, whose home was in Kaukauna, was a descendant of Governor Grignon of England. Her father was Charles A. Grignon, a son of Augustine David Grignon, one of the first settlers at Kaukauna. She also was a descendant of Madame de Seignie, a name well known in French literature and of Charles de Langlade, who was one of the first white men to set foot on Wisconsin soil.

Charles Grignon, the father of Miss Grignon, was born in what is now the city of Kaukauna on June 8, 1808.

The Grignon family is outstanding because of its connection with the early history of Wisconsin and the founding of Kaukauna. Their generosity was well known and governors, statesmen and famous travelers who traveled the Fox river, then the only avenue of travel, were frequent guests.

The original Grignon home was the first home in Wisconsin. It was built in 1790 by Dominique Ducharme who sold it to Augustine David Grignon, the grandfather of Miss Grignon. It was built at the foot of a hill, east of the present Lutheran church at Kaukauna. The home was taken over by Miss Grignon's father.

The present Grignon home was built in 1859 by Charles Grignon. All the lumber was brought from Buffalo to Green Bay, and was then transferred to a river boat and taken to Kaukauna. Much of the wood was hand carved. Some of the original plastering still remains in the aged house.

Miss Margaret E. Grignon, about 80 years old, was the last surviving daughter of the family. She leaves two brothers, Charles and Ross, Kaukauna, and a nephew, Daniel, California. Miss Grignon graduated from Lawrence college and taught in Kaukauna and rural schools. She was employed in the P. M. Conkey Insurance office here for 32 years and retired from active work about three years ago.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Friday morning at Holy Cross Catholic church at Kaukauna. Miss Grignon was in charge of the services. Interment will be in the northside Catholic cemetery. Bearers will be Dr. W. N. Nolan, J. L. Anderson, John Corcoran, H. G. Brauer, Anton Mankusky and Peter Feller.

BOVINA DISTRICT VOTES TO ERECT NEW SCHOOL

Taxpayers of school district number 5, town of Bovina, at a meeting at Spill school house Tuesday evening, decided to build a new school to cost not more than $5,000. The vote was unanimous for the new school when it was found that the cost of transporting pupils and closing the present schoolhouse would be greater than the taxpayers attending the meeting.

The school board was instructed to make arrangements for a loan from the state to cover the cost. Construction is to be started as soon as possible and the new building is to be ready for use next fall. A G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, attended the meeting.

JURY SAYS FATHER WASN'T MISTREATED

Man Loses Suit to Compel Children to Return Property to Him

Mr. and Mrs. William Ross, Shiocton, did not mistreat August Melchert, Mrs. Ross' father, a Jew in the Shiocton, who was the plaintiff in a suit to compel his children to return property to him. A jury of 12 men and 1 woman returned a verdict Tuesday afternoon that the Shiocton couple by Mr. Melchert should remain in their possession.

Charging that his daughter and son-in-law failed to live up to the terms of a contract in a warranty deed which he gave them the old man sought to regain possession of a house and lot in the Edithway, Appleton. Mr. Melchert told the court he deeded the property to Mr. and Mrs. Ross with the provision that they care for him and his wife until they died.

The old man testified the Rosses cared for them until Mrs. Melchert died, and then he said, they started to mistreat him and his wife. He alleged that the terms of the warranty deed had been broken and he should get his Appleton property back.

The Rosses denied they mistreated Mr. Melchert and they also declared he still was well and able to live with them. The case opened Monday morning before Judge Theodore Bora and it went to the jury about 3:15 Tuesday afternoon. A verdict was reached in less than an hour.

BADGER CITIES NAME COUNCIL CANDIDATES

Milwaukee—(P)—Three Wisconsin cities nominated candidates for councilmen and a fourth nominated mayoral candidates in primary elections Tuesday.

At Eau Claire, Fred Stussy and Mayor John E. Barron, who has served for 12 years, were nominated as candidates for mayor.

At Chippewa Falls, a "dark horse" furnished an upset when William Al-lard whose nomination papers were filed too late for him to get on the ballot, was nominated for councilman. He led a field of five candidates. The other nominee was Thomas A. Roycroft, former assemblyman.

Christ Reineck and Ray R. Hunt were nominated for councilman at Menomonie. The total vote in the primary was 11 more than that of the record municipal election in 1924.

The 13 names were for the voters of Oshkosh and from there they selected Councilman Dan Sitzel and Henry T. Hagen as candidates for councilman, while the three present members of the school board gained good margins in their race for re-nomination.

GOVERNOR TALKS TO 3,200 IN VISIT TO OUTAGAMIE COUNTY

Zimmerman Spends Busy Day Speaking from Early in Morning to Late at Night

Ending a day's activities in Outagamie-co, Governor Fred E. Zimmerman Tuesday night assisted in the presentation of a charter to the newly organized Kiwanis club at Seymour and spoke to an audience of about 250 which had gathered for the occasion.

Kiwanians from most of the Fox river valley cities were present and members from each city strove to outdo the others in presenting bits of entertainment. Delegates were from Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Neenah, Menasha and Appleton. Several special entertainers were brought in for the occasion.

The meeting started with a banquet shortly after 6 o'clock in the basement of the Catholic church but the hall was far from large enough and the gathering moved to the auditorium where the stunts, speeches and presentation of the charter took place. Dancing followed the business meeting and the local delegation did not leave there until 1:30 Wednesday morning.

Governor Zimmerman recalled he was in Seymour two years ago when he was campaigning for state office. At that time he had promised to dance with every woman in Seymour if elected. "I'm here to fulfill my promise. Let 'em step up," he said.

Activities of the day included talks at the Appleton High school, McKinley Junior high school, Lawrence Memorial chapel and a joint meeting of the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs and the chamber of commerce at noon.

Detaching from his prepared speech before the luncheon clubs, the governor brought up the states connection with charitable institutions and declared that people of today were not doing the right thing by those who, through circumstances, are forced to rely on charity.

"It would be a wonderful thing if each of us could have one of those people under our care," he said.

"There are many of them who could be made into good and useful citizens if placed in the right environment." This allegiance he said included the duty of obedience to the laws of sovereignty to which the allegiance is due.

JUSTICE REFUSES TO DISMISS CHARGE

Missing Teapot Dome Wit- ness Must Face Contempt Proceeding

Washington—(P)—The motion to dismiss contempt charges against R. M. Blackmer, missing Teapot Dome witness, was denied Wednesday by Justice Frederick L. Siddons in the District of Columbia Supreme court.

Blackmer, who was wanted as a government witness against Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall on charges of conspiring to defraud the government in the Teapot Dome oil lease, refused to obey a subpoena to return from France and testify and was so adjudged in contempt of court.

Blackmer was wanted to tell of the organization and operation of the Continental Trading Co. of Canada which made $3,000,000 profits in a deal with the late A. E. Humphreys of Denver. The contract was guaranteed by Blackmer, J. E. O'Neill, also a missing oil witness, Harry F. Sinclair and Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

Justice Siddons ruled that every citizen of the United States owed to the government an allegiance, even though living in a foreign land. This allegiance he said included the duty of obedience to the laws of sovereignty to which the allegiance is due.

ARCTIC AIR EXPLORERS REPORTED TO BE SAFE

Seward, Alaska—(P)—Fears that Captain George H. Wilkins, Arctic explorer, and his sardough pilot Lieut. Carl Ben Eielson, might have crashed in completing their 500-mile flight from Fairbanks to Point Barrow were dispelled late Tuesday night when radio communication was re-established with the explorer.

News of the safety of the Polar explorers was received by Captain Robert B. Woolverton of the army signal corps here. The radio message, sent by Wilkins at his base of operations, said, "all okeh." He repeated the message several times and then added, "iceless land." At that point an amateur station began interfering with Woolverton and the rest of Wilkins' message was lost.

The previous silence of the explorer's radio set caused anxiety here. The final message transmitted by him on his flight Monday from Fairbanks to point Barrow was "going to land." Then the radio stopped short.

PRINCE OF WALES FALLS AGAIN BUT LANDS UNHURT

Riseley, England—(P)—The Prince of Wales fell Wednesday during the Oakley hunt point-to-point races. He was not hurt and landed safely on his feet on the grassy bank of the brook.

RACINE TAKES ACTION TO ABOLISH GAS TAX

Racine—(P)—A resolution authorizing the city attorney of Racine to bring Auxiliary Knights of Columbus to take any action he sees fit toward obtaining the abolishment of the state gasoline tax will come before the city council as a committee of the whole at its next meeting.

The resolution was presented at the council meeting Tuesday evening following the opinion of City Attorney Martin R. Paulsen that the gas tax law is discriminatory and unconstitutional. It was decided to refer the measure to the council as a committee of the whole for final action.

DOUBLE KNOCKOUT IN FRIENDLY BOUT FATAL TO ONE FOE

Los Angeles—(P)—What seemed to have been a double knockout in a friendly boxing bout between two students in the University of Southern California gymnasium turned to tragedy Tuesday night when it was found one of the boxers was dead.

The dead boxer was Michael Carnakis, 20, of Bakersfield, a sophomore. His opponent, Philip Bromley, 19, of Los Angeles was unconscious for an hour and 45 minutes. The boxers, both welterweights, pounded each other for three rounds. In the fourth they were engaged in a swift exchange of punches when both tumbled on their faces.

CLEANUP ORDER OF COAL CO. FORGERY

Attorney for Pittsburg firm Denies Letters Sent Out by Officials

Washington—(P)—The paper purporting to be an order from the Pittsburg Coal Co. to its mine superintendent "to clean up unsightly conditions" and to keep coal and iron police in the background during the visit of senators to its mines was denounced as a "forgery" in the senate coal investigation Wednesday by Don Rose, attorney for the coal company.

A moment before the Rev. W. G. Nowell, Methodist Episcopal pastor who formerly ministered at the Montrose No. 4 mine of the Pittsburg Coal Co., had said that information regarding the "clean-up" letter had been given him by minor officials of the coal company.

Rose protested that he had not been permitted to see the letter. He repeated an earlier description of the paper by C. E. Leshar, executive vice president of the company, as a "forged document" and demanded that the names of the officials who furnished the document or spoke about it be revealed.

Chairman Watson of Indiana said that this proposal would be taken up by the committee in executive session.

Oliver K. Eaton read a letter from J. D. Morrow, president of the Pittsburg Coal Co., to employees of that company before the arrival of the senate subcommittee, and Rose admitted the sending of that document. Eaton contended that this letter was the one referred to in the alleged forged document as "the spurious letter" which the coal company was mailing to its employees.

MARKETS OVERNIGHT ORDERS STRENGTHEN STOCK

Execution of Flood of Buying Orders Gives Opening a Strong Tone

New York—(P)—Execution of a flood of overnight buying orders gave opening prices a strong tone in Wednesday's stock market. Initial gains of 1 to nearly 3 points were recorded by U. S. Steel Common, International Nickel, Westinghouse Electric and American Lined. Case Thrashing jumped 2 points on full sale of 252 and was accompanied into high ground by National Daily Printing and General American Tank. Radio opened 2 points lower at 13 but quickly made up its loss.

Speculation assumed considerable volume after the opening. Radio rallied to a new high record at 15 1/2 before the end of the first half hour. General Motors advanced points to a new top at 17 1/2 and General Electric ran up nearly 3 points to 44 1/2. After the opening, Alcoa quickly soared 17 points, Collins and Alkman moved up nearly 6 and Rockwell, Inc. rose 4 points. International Match preferred, Nash, Greene Cananea Copper, Air Reduction, Sears Roebuck and American International moved up 2 points or more.

Reaction of the widespread public interest in the market was indicated by the wealth of buying orders which came in after the opening. Radio, after falling to 15 1/2 mounted again to 16 1/2, when U. S. Steel and General Motors started higher. U. S. Steel led off at 14 1/2 and General Motors at 15 1/2, which had prevailed for a long time, had an inspiring effect on sentiment.

Radio opened 2 points lower at 13 but quickly made up its loss.

Speculation assumed considerable volume after the opening. Radio rallied to a new high record at 15 1/2 before the end of the first half hour. General Motors advanced points to a new top at 17 1/2 and General Electric ran up nearly 3 points to 44 1/2. After the opening, Alcoa quickly soared 17 points, Collins and Alkman moved up nearly 6 and Rockwell, Inc. rose 4 points. International Match preferred, Nash, Greene Cananea Copper, Air Reduction, Sears Roebuck and American International moved up 2 points or more.

Foreign exchanges opened steady with Sterling Cables quoted around $4.83 1/2.

Reaction of the widespread public interest in the market was indicated by the wealth of buying orders which came in after the opening. Radio, after falling to 15 1/2 mounted again to 16 1/2, when U. S. Steel and General Motors started higher. U. S. Steel led off at 14 1/2 and General Motors at 15 1/2, which had prevailed for a long time, had an inspiring effect on sentiment.

NATION GIVES ITS HIGHEST HONOR TO LINDBERGH TODAY

Gets Medal of Honor Ten Months from Day He Started Historic Flight

BY WILLIAM F. BROOKS
Washington — (AP) — Col. Charles Lindbergh once more emerged from private pursuits at his nation's call—this time to receive the symbol of its homage.

President Coolidge presented the young Argonaut with the congressional medal of honor, the highest award of the United States, voted to him by congress last December, at noon today.

The presentation took place in the presence of high army, navy and marine officers and government officials.

The ceremony took only a few minutes. Mr. Coolidge said a few words in his private office in the presence of the company, posed outside in the garden for the photographers and then permitted the aviator to return to his much sought seclusion.

Perhaps few in the company will recall that it was just ten months ago that the courageous youth hopped off alone from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., on the unmarked trail to Paris.

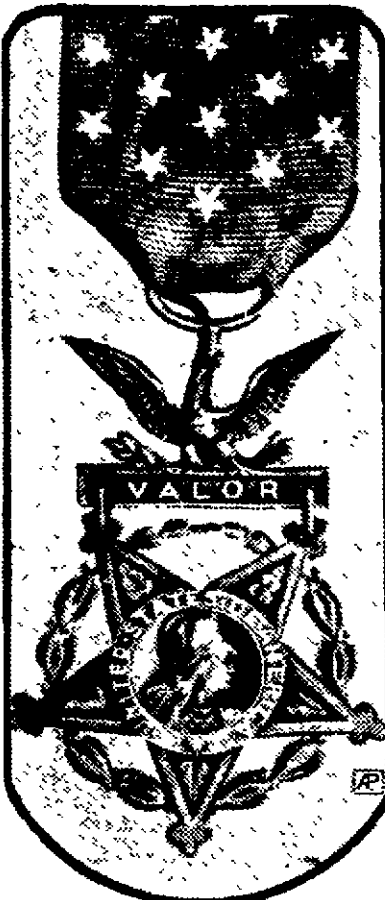

Winging eastward from the Pacific Coast, with only one stop, Lindbergh had suddenly emerged as a serious contender for the trans-Atlantic honors. Commander Richard E. Byrd and Clarence D. Chamberlin had been waiting for days for favorable weather. Many thought the St. Louis flier foolhardy. His plane had but one motor, no radio, no navigator and many dismissed lightly his chances as a contender in the New York-to-Paris air race for the $25,000 prize of Raymond Orteig.

Shortly after midnight May 20, came word that Lindbergh was preparing to go. At 2:30 a. m. he was out of bed. It was raining at the field. Lindbergh ordered the plane fueled and saw that his week's supply of emergency army rations was aboard. Satisfied that all was in order, he studied weather charts and played aimlessly with a stray kitten. At 7:30 a. m. he donned his flying suit, climbed into the cockpit of the plane he had named "The Spirit of St. Louis," and began to warm up the motor. Chamberlin and Byrd wished him luck. A few minutes before 8 o'clock, his ship labored into the muggy air with its nose toward Paris.

Reports of Lindbergh's progress came intermittently throughout the day and night. He had passed Halifax, Newfoundland and was over the Atlantic. A ship wireless he had been sighted 500 miles off the Irish coast. Another at 100 miles. He had passed over Ireland, over Bayeaux, France, over Cherbourg.

Finally, at 10 p. m. May 21 (Paris time) it was evident the flier was nearing Le Bourget. A crowd of more than 25,000 was listening intently for the drone of the motor that would indicate his coming. A few minutes later it was heard. An object flashed across one of the lights from the field.

NATION'S HIGHEST HONOR FOR LINDBERGH

It was gone again. The field attendants worked the lights frantically. There it was: The "Spirit of St. Louis" circled the field twice, nosed down and came to rest in the midst of a shouting, surging, milling, hysterical crowd.

Lindbergh's safe arrival was reported in America at 5:21 p. m. Eastern standard time. Bunting and flags appeared as if by magic on every Main street. Crowds danced, sung and shouted. New York, Washington, Chicago, San Francisco and St. Louis, home of the flier's backers, gave vent to a mighty roar of joy and relief.

The young man was a world hero. He was acclaimed in London, Paris, Washington and New York. Then came his flight over the United States, his hop from Washington to Mexico, and his round of South American countries.

Now his own country is bestowing

upon him its highest award. He left the White House March 21 bearing this symbol, seeking solitude to pursue his private affairs. Perhaps he will be permitted to retire from the limelight of public attention, but wherever he goes, whatever he does, people will be interested in him. Only once does a Lindbergh fly to Paris alone for the first time.

MAN OFTEN ARRESTED ON DOUBLE'S CHARGE

GRIMSBY, England — (AP) — Ernest Arthur Watson of this town, has a "double" who is causing him a deal of trouble and annoyance. In fact Watson has been arrested no less than five times for offenses said to have been committed by the "double" but in each case Watson has been able to prove an alibi.

Watson said after his fifth arrest: "Since January 5, I have been going from place to place in custody and have been undergoing examination and re-examination by detectives. On the whole the police were fairly sporty about it, apart from the fact that I was carted about in handcuffs and in Black Maras at others. As for my double, he has caused me and the police a vast amount of trouble."

CALLS HUMANS RADIO SETS

That radio-telegraphy and mental telepathy seem to be identical processes, is the declaration of Abbe Moiroux, one of the greatest Roman Catholic scientists in France. "Scientists," he said recently, "think today that the various waves in the atmosphere are of an electric nature at their base, and that all atoms, including those forming our brains, emit waves similar to those sent out by radio stations, and that they are capable of influencing appropriate receivers. According to our capacity we receive—generally without knowing it—an infinite number of radiations of all sorts that affect our brain cells, and, by their intermediary, our intelligence and our nervous system; and in the same way solar activity acts not only on individuals but on all people at the same time. I showed in 1910 that the great wars always follow large sunspots."

RECEIVES CHECK FOR OLD AGE PENSION FUND

Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, Tuesday received a check for $5,461 from Solomon Levitan, state treasurer, for the state's share of old age pensions paid in Outagamie-co during 1927. The county spent $16,383 in 1927 and the state's share is one-third of this amount. In 1927 a refund of $4,218.08 was received on the expenditure for 1926.

CLERKS CONTINUE WORK ON REGISTRATION CARDS

City Clerk E. L. Williams and the employees in his office are becoming less enthused with the permanent registration system every day. They are still filing cards for those persons who registered late and as the cards are in large books the task of inserting new ones is not an agreeable one. Cards of persons who voted last Tuesday are being stamped with the date of election.

STATE JOB NO BAR TO SERVING COUNTY AS MEMBER OF BOARD

Membership in County Board and State Grain Commission Not "Incompatible"

MADISON — (AP) — The statute under which the post of George Staudenmayor, Portage, on the highway commission was declared vacant, does not prevent John A. Barton, Superior, from holding membership in both the county board and the state grain and warehouse commission. So the attorney general's department has informed Mr. Barton.

The retention of both positions might, however, the opinion says, subject Mr. Barton to a proceeding for removal from the grain and warehouse commission.

The attorney general points out that the opinion dealing with Mr. Staudenmayor's case was based on the fact that the two offices he held were "incompatible," that is, the duties of the two conflicted and under the rule, the acceptance of the last office vacated the first.

The legal department, however, holds that both membership in the county board and the grain and warehouse commission is not "incompatible," so the rule of acceptance of the later office vacating the first one would not apply.

However, your attention is called to the statute which provides that the three members of the grain and warehouse commission shall each give his entire time to the performance of the duties of his position and shall not engage in other active business," the opinion to Mr. Barton says.

"I do not see how you could perform the duties of a member of the county board without devoting a part of your time to the office and while that would not vacate the office of the commissioner under the rule of incompatibility, it might subject you to proceeding for removal from office of grain and warehouse commissioner on a charge that you were not giving your entire time to the performance of the duties of that office, as required by the statute."

Open-air schools for children needing special care because of tuberculosis or malnutrition, have been opened in Montevideo, Uruguay.

Because of the success of the autostrada between Bergamo and Milan, Italy, another connecting Turin and Milan will be constructed.

FEBRUARY BUILDING SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Contracts awarded on new building and engineering work in the past month in the state of Wisconsin amounted to $9,341,000, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation. The above figure was the highest February contract on record for this state. It was 14 per cent ahead of the February 1927 total and was 35 per cent in excess of the January 1928 record.

Analysis of last month's construction record for Wisconsin showed the following items of importance: $4,627,200, or 50 per cent of all construction, for residential buildings; $1,494,500, or 16 per cent, for industrial projects; $1,432,200 or 15 per cent for public works and utilities; and $888,000, or 10 per cent for commercial buildings.

New construction started in this state during the past two months has amounted to $18,276,300, compared with $12,017,500 for the corresponding period of last year, the increase being 55 per cent.

WATER MAIN EXTENSION PROGRAM NOT PREPARED

No date has been set for the combined meeting of the water committee of the city council and the water commission, according to Alderman John Dudenreich, chairman of the former group. The meeting was suggested at the last session of the city council by J. J. Plank, chairman water commission, and will have for its purpose estimating of water main installation, to be done this summer. Indications are that the meeting will not be called until late this month.

COUNCIL PUTS OFF ACTION ON POLICE PENSION PROPOSAL

Chief McCarty Outlines Plan for Rewarding Long Service for City

Kaukauna—Action on the police pension matter submitted to the city council some time ago by R. H. McCarty, chief of police, was deferred until April 8, by the city council at an adjourned meeting Tuesday evening in the council chambers of the municipal building. Alderman E. R. Landerman proposed that the measure be laid aside until that time.

The bill as proposed by Mr. McCarty would make every police officer eligible for a pension after 22 years of service on the local force. He then would receive one-half of his monthly salary as long as he lived. If an officer is killed or dies as a result of injuries received while on duty or after ten years of service he should die from any cause and leave a widow she would receive one-third of his monthly salary and $8 for each child not 16 years of age, the amount for the children to stop when they attained that age. If the widow remarries or upon her death the proposed plan provides for a continued allowance for the children. It also states that there shall not be paid to the family of an officer a total exceeding one-half of the officer's monthly salary. In case the officer remarries after being pensioned and then dies his wife is not entitled to any relief. After 22 years of faithful service the officer may apply to the fire and police commission for a pension.

Funds for the pension are provided for by assessing each officer 1 percent of his month's salary, taking 1 percent of the money received by the city from license fees and all dog tax monies. Rewards received by the department must also be turned into the fund.

Money received from the sale of unclaimed articles would also be placed in the fund. In case the amount is insufficient the remainder may be raised by direct taxation.

Chief McCarty appeared before the council and urged immediate action on the bill. He said: "I do not believe it would ever be necessary to use a direct tax to provide funds. All of the officers are young or at the most middle aged and it should be quite some time before they must be provided for. It is a guarantee to us, though, against old age and I'm sure that you will agree that a man who faithfully served an institution for 22 years is worthy of this consideration. I would also suggest that the city ordinances be revised and that a local police court be established. The city would then be the beneficiary of many fees which go to the courts here at Appleton now. This is made possible under the new home rule law."

Mayor W. C. Sullivan read a communication from Alderman George L. Smith, who is ill at his home, stating that he was heartily in favor of the police pension. Alderman W. H. Cooper told the council that it was no more than right to establish a pension fund for the police officers the same as has been done for the firemen.

The council passed unanimously the ordinance setting all bus license fees at $25 each. The original ordinance provided for a charge of $25 for the first bus and $1 for each additional one.

Mr. Cooper asked the police department to stop the Manitowoc bus line from continuing its practice of picking up passengers in the middle of the street. He suggested that a place be designated where the bus could stop. After the first of the month the bus line operating from one side of the river to the other will be prohibited from passing over the Lawrence bridge and instead will go over the new Wisconsin avenue bridge. Picking up passengers on the bridge is to be stopped by the police.

The council allowed Mrs. Lillian Black a refund of $41.25 in tax money. Mrs. Black recently sold some of her land and the taxes for this property was paid by her and the new owners. Mrs. Black protested and a settlement was reached following an investigation by Joseph Lefevre, city attorney.

Wives From Offices Are Best Wives?

BY ALIVER ROBERTS BARTON
LACE FOOTED McDUGALL, the woman who established and owns five of the most picturesque coffee houses in New York City, recently signed a twenty year lease representing a rental of a million dollars.

She has written her own story of struggle, discouragement, bad luck, poor health, a dependent family and no capital, except an indomitable spirit and unusual ingenuity. It has been a hard, slow climb, and those girls or women who contemplate business careers would do well to read it. For this, as any other of life's ventures that is worth while, is no pruney path.

We wonder if it isn't a good thing perhaps for both men and women, that women are making the plunge into the business world on their own account. It will, without doubt, establish a spirit of understanding between them, that only experience can give. For women are discovering some of the things men are up against in business, the struggle, the discouragement, and all the things that Mrs. McDougall sets forth.

Of course it is true that women are handicapped at this stage of the game because they are women. But after all, business ethics are the same, generally speaking, for men and women alike. Indeed in many cases, Mrs. McDougall admits that landlords and others "would have been twice as sharp with a man."

She adds, "In business everyone is out to grab, to fight to win. You are either the under dog or the top dog. It is up to you to be on top."

A woman who has had business experience of the type Mrs. McDougall speaks of, cannot help but understand the problems her husband has to contend with, if she marries. She will understand why he is silent at the dinner table, why he sits at the desk in the corner of the living-room and adds up figures on "stupid papers," why he looks worried when household bills come in or when someone takes sick.

He will be more likely to tell her about his affairs, the struggle he has to keep up to intake over the output at the store, in order to keep the house going until he gets a good start, and all the rest of his problems, if he thinks she understands.

We wonder if women with business training and business experience are not going to make the best wives after all in more respects than one.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BREAKFAST—Baked apples, cereal, country sausage, cornmeal pancakes, new maple syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Macaroni baked with peanut butter, jelly tomato salad, date and nut bread, cup custard, milk, tea.

DINNER—Swiss steak with brown gravy, mashed potatoes, baked onions, cheese ball salad, canned fruit, plain cake, milk, coffee.

Jellied tomato salad is excellent for this time of year when fresh tomatoes are high in price. There are many ways to vary the seasoning in the tomato jelly and either French or mayonnaise dressing is good. The following rule is unusual in that grated coconut is added.

JELLIED TOMATO SALAD
Two cups canned tomatoes, 1 small onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-2 tablespoons gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1-2 cup grated coconut.

Peel and slice onion and add to tomatoes. Add salt and sugar and simmer fifteen minutes. Soften gelatine in cold water for ten minutes. Strain tomatoes through a sieve and stir in softened gelatine. Stir until dissolved and add lemon juice and coconut. Turn into four individual molds and let stand until chilled and firm. Turn out on lettuce and serve with French dressing.

SNAKE EARRINGS NOW
STYLISH IN ENGLAND

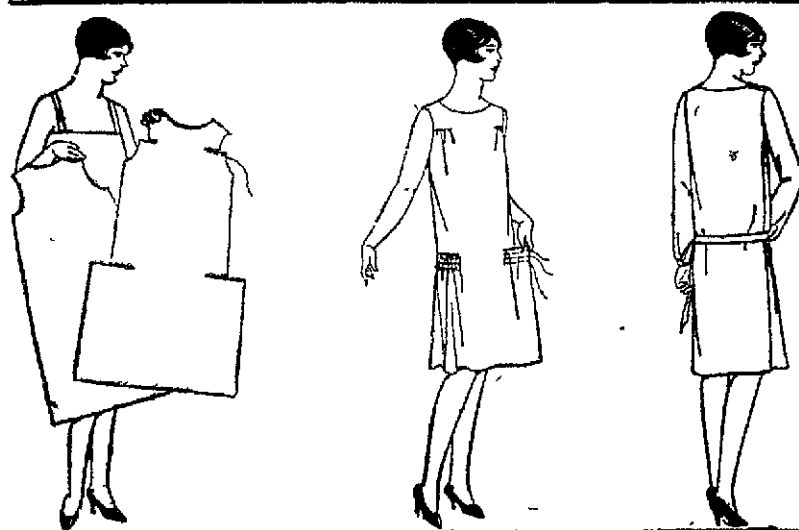

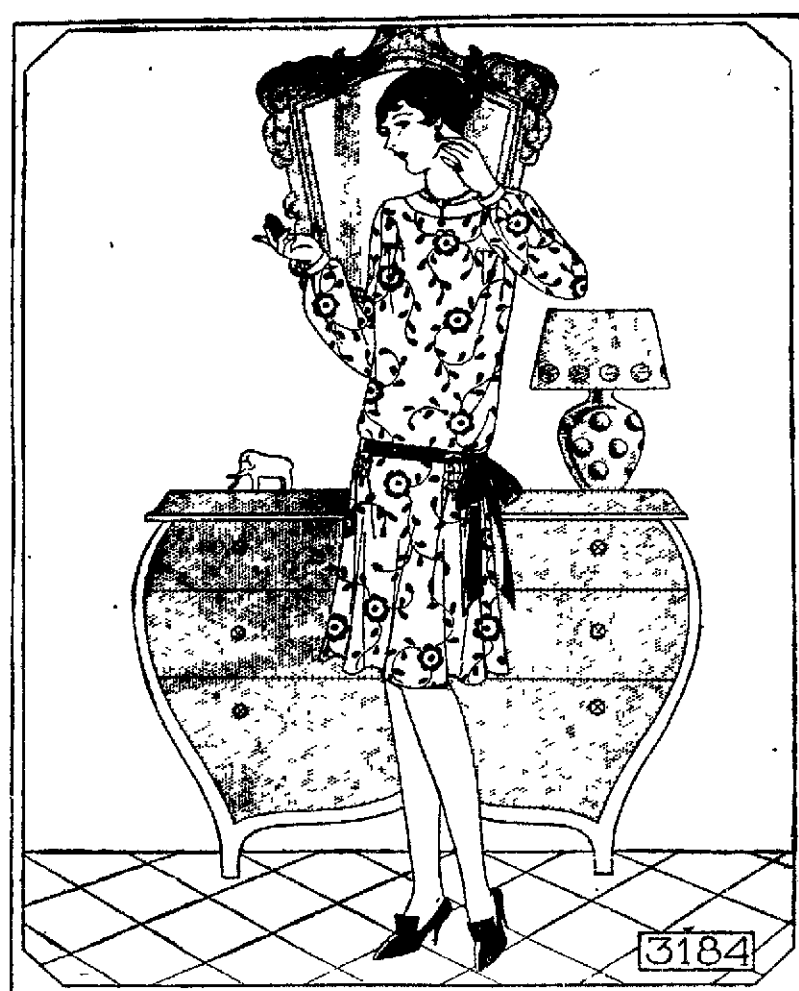

London—(AP)—Snake earrings are the vogue. There is more dangle about them than ever, and some reach almost to the shoulder. A popular pattern is that of two snake heads interlocked with brilliant for eyes and jeweled fangs.

Snakiness is so much the rage that even handbags have frames of snake designs, the head forming the clasp.

FOR SPRING AFTERNOONS

CHARMINGLY SIMPLE

Smart simplicity is expressed in alluring model for the woman who insists on a youthful appearance. It is charmingly lovely interpreted in novelty silk crepe in interesting color scheme, with waistline marked with a narrow belt of soft cotton faille crepe ribbon in the predominating color of the fabric. It will prove economical too, for it can be worn all through the Spring and Summer season.

Navy blue georgette crepe, beige silk crepe with matching suede belt with bright buckle, tan angora jersey, violet georgette crepe, featherweight tweed in diagonal weave, Chanel blue crepe Roma, soft green crepe, and novelty woolen or silk crepe in new border pattern, are also appropriate and extremely smart for Style No. 3184.

It is surprisingly easy to make! The effective yoke is formed by cutting in from armholes and underarm edges, the lower edge of which is gathered and joined to upper edge. The shirring which creates snug hipline is made in much the same manner, simply cut along perforated lines, and shirred and joined to upper edge. The dress is then ready to be seamed at sides and shoulders and sleeves set into armholes. Note the lower edge of skirt is straight, making it suitable for new border materials. Pattern can be had in sizes 15, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust and requires but 3 1/4 yards of 40 inch material to make it for the 36-inch size. An elegant dress at a comparatively small outlay. Pattern price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). Our patterns are made by the leading Fashion Designers of New York City and are guaranteed to fit perfectly.

In ordering this pattern, we suggest that you enclose 10 cents extra for a copy of our Spring Fashion Magazine containing photos of Norma Talmadge, Constance Talmadge, Renee Adoree, etc., styles of Colleen Moore, Clara Bow, Dorothy Mackaill, Billie Dove, Mary Astor, etc., and 100 other styles. Ring up the host to inquire just what it meant the following explanation was given:

"It's just a little friendly gathering to celebrate the fact that all the instalments have been paid on the furniture and piano. I'm having another 'paid-up-party' is, and at least one person was astounded to receive the following invitation: 'Please come to a 'Paid-with-thanks' party at on Saturday, March 24th, 8 o'clock.'"

In view of the growing popularity of buying furniture and motor cars on the instalment plan, there will probably be a large increase in paid with thanks parties this season.

SCHUMANN FORGOT ABOUT PROMISE TO BUY PIANO

Berlin—(AP)—How Robert Schumann, the composer, on one occasion in his younger and poorer days satisfied his craving to play piano, is recounted by the "Germania." Schumann and the later famous writer, Willibald Alexis, were on a hike through the Rhine country, when one day Schumann felt an uncontrollable longing to play piano. But the two wanderers did not know the way, so they decided on Schumann's hankering for some music of his own making increasing with every step.

Tired and dusty they finally arrived in Frankfurt-on-Main, where the budding composer promptly sought out the foremost firm of piano-forte dealers and introduced himself as a tutor of an English lord for whom he had come to select a suitable piano, regardless of the price.

He was immediately shown the five best instruments in stock and for two hours Schumann played to his heart's content the classics and his own improvisations. Then he left with the promise to return in two days for the piano he had selected. It is a painful duty to record that for once the great composer did not keep his promise.

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

So you think we've given romance the gate with our peppy ways? You're all wrong, darling. What we've done is just to hang more thrills on it.

I know you wouldn't have called the jam I found myself in the other day romantic but to me it was just one of those moments without which life would be as dull as the North Pole without a radio.

Of course, it couldn't have happened in your day. Your buggies didn't run with gas, but even if you'd had motor cars a married woman would have been gossiped out of town if she'd gone out in one alone with a man who was not her husband. Thank goodness times have changed!

Alan is steamed up about buying a car and we can't decide on the kind we want. I'm having several demonstrations, which is something you miss in your day, Mom.

I've about made up my mind on one ducky roadster with green leather seats. The salesman looks like Lindy. We were having a speed test day before yesterday. Doing over eighty. Had to slow down for a turn and I thought I heard a motorcycle and sure enough there was a speed muzzler after us. I poked "Lindy"—Billy Bartlett—in the floating rib and he looked around. Then he yelled something about having the cops fixed.

But this was one cop he had overlooked in his "get acquainted" week. There we were, about to get a ticket, and I was scared stiff. I could see my roadster going back to the display room, for I knew Alan would drop the deal if he learned I'd been burning up the road after I'd promised not to speed. I had to do something drastic.

"All right," I said, sadly, "but give the ticket to me, Big Boy. It's my fault. I insisted on a speed test. It will spoil our wedding day, though. We were going to be married next week, but when dad hears of this he'll give me a jail sentence instead. He's Judge Wendley, you know."

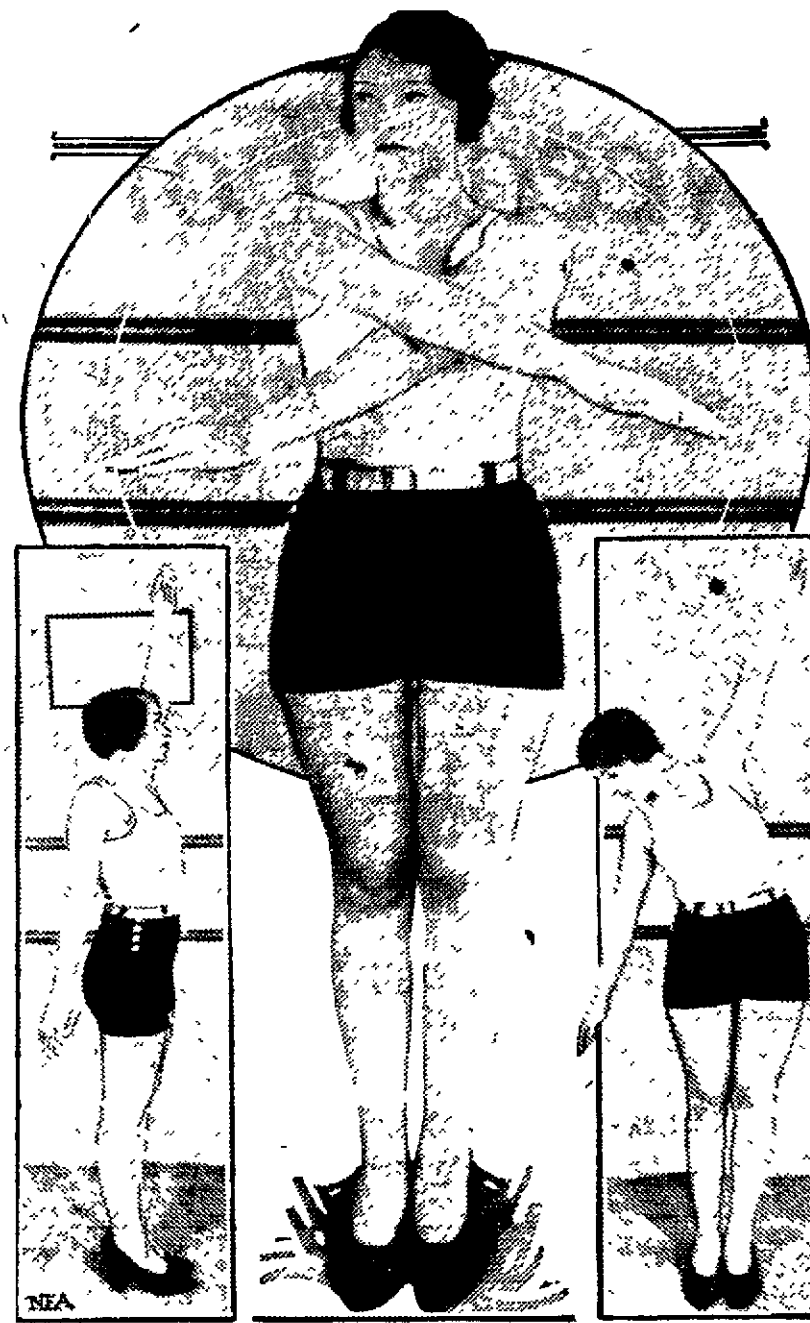

Well, mom, 'funny but cops are human and I really was about to cry thinking of what Alan would do. I don't know if he fell for the story but he let us go. Maybe he did, because people say I'm a ringer for Beatrice Wendley.

And just to make it more convincing, Mr. Bartlett put his arm around my neck to comfort me. Now that's what I call romance.

Lovingly,

MARYE.

Over Stuffed Shoulders And Large Arms Reduced

For beauty of shoulder and arm: (left to right) the walking beam; the cross; the swing.

EDITOR'S NOTE—To take the bulk from bulky arms and shoulders is the object of the exercises described by Marjorie Dork, health and beauty expert. In this fifth article of her exclusive Post-Crescent series.

By MARJORIE DORK
Health and Beauty Expert
For NEA Service

Nothing impairs a woman's femininity more than over-stuffed shoulders and over-large arms.

Heavy shoulders are quite unparadiseable, too, since reducing them is a simple matter of proper exercise. Reducing the upper arm is a little difficult and to a large extent must come with the general attenuation of all superfluous flesh.

Here is an exercise to take the puff out of puffy shoulders:

Stand erect, knees together, arms extended to the sides. Now cross them in front of you with a vigorous swing, the right arm above. Swing them back, then in front again, the left uppermost this time. Repeat, alternating hard and fast.

Another motion beneficial to the shoulder is to swing the arms up and down toward the front from the same position taken in the preceding exercise.

Good for both arms and shoulders, as well as the waistline and trunk, is this one:

Starting as above and keeping the arms out stiff to the sides, bend the right arm downward until the hand is below the knees, which are kept rigid. Then up, and down on the left side, like a walking beam.

These exercises, done often and vigorously, will not only reduce the arms and shoulders, but they will tighten up the muscles of the bust. I do not advise any woman to try to reduce her bust, except by general body reduction. Expert massage is helpful, but it must be expert.

I am going to tell you today of the Kellogg diet, which many women prefer above all others.

For breakfast, choice of fruit—orange juice, grape fruit, apples, or stewed fruit—one cup of coffee or tea without cream or sugar and a slice of whole wheat toast.

For luncheon, vegetable or any thin soup, but no purées; tomato, lettuce or vegetable salad, or a choice of green vegetables with lemon juice and mineral oil in the place of regular salad dressing and one glass of buttermilk or any fluid. No bread nor toast of any kind.

For dinner, one small helping of beans, macaroni, cheese or any meatless food, two vegetables, cooked or raw, any green salad and half a slice of whole wheat bread.

This is a diet upon which you can live indefinitely, have a wide choice of food and still reduce steadily. And it cannot possibly harm you in any way because it affords all the food values you actually require.

I advise you to try for a week each of the diets I have prescribed in these articles. By watching your weight you can quickly ascertain which is most helpful. Then follow that one carefully until, encouraged by regular determined exercise, your scales tell the desired tale.

Heavy ankles and fatted calves are discussed in Miss Dork's next article.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

It was a pretty sight, this frosting lake of brilliant white. "Phew, little cupcakes splashed about and had a lot of fun. Said Clowny, "Why stand way up here, when we can all run down real near? Come on, let's go down by the bank." The bunch began to run.

Then one small cupcake yelled, "Hello! I'll bet you Tinsies do not know why we are splashing in this lake. Come on, now try and guess." The Tinsies thought for quite a while. Then Scouty answered, with a smile, "We've tried to guess the answer, but we can't, we must confess."

The cupcake then said, "Well, you see, we must be sweet as we can be before they take us to the store and put us up for sale. So, when we jump into this lake, we soon are more than just plain cake. It covers us with frosting white. It never seems to melt."

"Well, well," said Scouty, "That's sure neat. No wonder cupcakes taste so sweet." And then he stuck his finger in the lake, to take a taste. "Oh, don't do that," one cupcake cried. "If by the baker you are spied, 'twill make his mad. He doesn't like to see this go to waste."

"All right, we will start a fuss. You're coveys now. Come play with us," said Scouty, and the cupcakes soon were running out on shore. "Don't I look nice?" one cupcake said, "with frosting spread upon my head." Just then the Tinsies heard a very funny sounding roar.

They looked around, and right near by a paper bag cried loudly, "I have come to get you cupcakes. Will you kindly all stand still." Three cupcakes then began to roar. "Oh, please don't take us to the store." And as they ran away the bag pursued them o'er the hill.

(The Tinsies get a new surprise in the next story.)

CALLAHAN PUTS O. K. ON LOCAL SCHOOLS

State Superintendent Pleased to Learn of Plans for New Building

A letter commending the administration of Appleton high school was recently received from John Callahan, state superintendent of schools, by Miss Carrie Morgan, clerk of Appleton board of education, soon after the visit of J. T. Gilles, high school inspector.

"It is a pleasure to learn that Appleton is no longer satisfied with your old high school accommodations and that you are looking forward to a larger Appleton in the future which would need greater facilities than can be afforded with your present high school site," says the letter.

Superintendent Callahan cited three plans by which supervision is carried out in the high schools of the country—through a special officer who devotes the major part of his time to these duties, by relieving the high school principal of a large part of his administrative duties so that he can devote the major part of his time to supervisory functions, by appointment of departmental heads.

"Your board has adopted the second method of relieving Mr. Heible of a large part of his administrative routine so that he could devote a major part of his time to the duties of a supervisor. Mr. Gilles approves this policy in view of the fact that Mr. Heible possesses exceptional qualities and training for this work," Mr. Callahan said.

The report of Mr. Gilles contained favorable comments upon the present organization and upon the attitude both among pupils and teachers in both the senior and junior high schools. He commends the policy of the board of education in seeking administrators who are capable and well-trained and then in turning over to them the full responsibility of administering the school and of directing instruction.

RECORDS SHOW JANUARY TO BE COLDEST MONTH

The average daily temperature for Appleton for the last 20 years was 44.4 degrees, according to S. D. Baillet who received this information from the United States weather bureau at Washington. The report indicated January, with an average temperature of 35.6 degrees above zero, is the coldest month of the year and July's average of 71.2 degrees makes it the hottest month.

Average temperatures in other months, as reported to Mr. Baillet are: February 37.4 degrees; March 38.4, April 43.5, May 53.3, June 63.2, July 71.2, August 68.5, September 61.1, October 49, November 36.4, December 32.1.

Mr. Baillet was attracted by the phrase "seasonal normalities" in daily weather reports and he asked the weather bureau to send him the "seasonal normalities" for Appleton.

APPLETON PEOPLE ARE NOT "CROOKS" TREASURER BOASTS

Appleton tax payers may be delinquent in some cases but they are not "crooked," according to Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer, and in very few instances do they neglect to pay the 2 per cent penalty which goes hand in hand with delinquent taxes. Several other cities near here have not been as fortunate as Appleton and are returning payments, which do not include the penalty fee.

This Is Your Lucky Day

You certainly will thank your lucky stars the day that you start using CAL-X.

Because from that time on there will be no more cleaning drudgery for you.

CAL-X is an absolutely new and entirely different cleaning powder. A small amount of CAL-X sifted into the water makes the hardest water as soft as rain water.

It neutralizes harsh minerals that are so destructive to fabrics and roughen and chap the hands. It doubles the efficiency of soap and saves much of the cost.

What an astounding difference it makes in all cleaning tasks—in the kitchen, in the laundry, in the bath. Everything that CAL-X comes in contact with is left spotlessly clean, fairly aglow with cleanliness. Lustre is restored to tarnished metal. Dinky wood, tile and china, glass and crockery are made to look like new. What an improvement in the laundry—lingerie, linens, woollens never were so fresh and clean. Dish washing is no longer a dread because grease and sticky food accumulations are dissolved and removed at a light touch, and it is the finest thing, too, that you ever used for removing deep set grease spots of all sorts.

CAL-X pays for itself many times over. Saves time. Saves energy. Saves soap and clothing. Try it, whenever you rub, whenever you scrub.

You will be delighted with results and never again will you start any cleaning task without first sifting CAL-X into the water.

FACTS ABOUT WISCONSIN

Forest fires in Wisconsin during the period 1916-1925 destroyed timber valued at $622,854 and the additional damage of $79,959 to buildings and improvements in forested regions brought the forest fire loss total for the state to $702,813. During the decade there were 534 forest fires, of which 485 destroyed more than ten acres of standing timber. The area burned was 354,794 acres—about the same size as Jefferson County, if combined into one group, and far more than we can afford to sacrifice as waste when our rapidly diminishing timber supply is considered. Minnesota during the same period had 1,399 fires, or more than twice as many as Wisconsin, but the forest land area destroyed was about one-half as large as ours, 185,553 acres. Michigan had seven fires to our one, or 3.887, but its 698,364 acres of forest land destroyed was less than double our loss. A study of the causes of forest fires in Wisconsin shows that brush burning was to blame for starting about 20 per cent of our fires, railroads were second, careless smokers third, camp fires fourth, lumbering fifth, lightning sixth and incendiary fires ranked seventh. Railroads were the worst offenders in Minnesota, but smokers ran the railroads a close second, and brush burning, incendiary fires, camp fires, lightning and lumbering followed in order. Railroads topped the list in Michigan also, followed closely by brush burning. Camp fires and smokers were almost equal hazards, greatly exceeding incendiary fires, lightning and lumbering. In all three states, as might well be expected, fires started by unknown causes were responsible for a large part of the forest fire damage. Looking for a moment at the reverse side of the picture, forests planted in Wisconsin total is found to be 5,500 acres of which the state planted 3,000 acres and individuals planted 2,000 acres. Michigan has 45,323 acres, of which 12,513 acres were planted by the Federal Forest Service, 25,430 by the state and 7,380 by industrial organizations. Minnesota is far in the lead with 181,642 acres of forest planting, 9,252 acres by the Federal Forest Service, 2,050 by the state, 300 by municipalities, 40 by industrial organizations and 170,000 by individuals.

LAWRENCE MEN GREET NEW GRID COACH AT VARSITY MEAL

Rasmussen, New Mentor, Urges Cooperation For Winning Gridiron Squads

Catlin Successor Impresses Hearers With "Short, but to the Point" Talk

Dave's Dots And Dashes

Men of Lawrence college Tuesday evening greeted Clarence "Raz" Rasmussen, their new football coach, warmly on his first appearance among them since his appointment to succeed Mark Catlin a few weeks ago and when he had finished a talk that was short but to the point, every loyal Lawrentian left the hall feeling that the Vikings would put a grid team on the field next fall that the school could be proud of. Rasmussen, a man who greatly reminded his listeners of A. C. Denny, present athletic director, whose success in basketball and track had added greatly to Lawrence's fame, asked the cooperation of the student body for his first year, not passively but actively. His reception was the feature of the second annual varsity dinner of the college at the Methodist church.

He said the only things needed for a winning football team were a good offensive and defensive, thorough knowledge of fundamentals and spirit, stressing the need for the last quality. Victory in his aim and with the help of his players he will attempt to place a winning football team on the field. The new Viking mentor so declared he will tell his men first, "There are better football coaches than I, but you haven't got them and there is better material than you, but I haven't got it. Therefore with what we have we must cooperate to win."

Talks also were given by President Henry M. Wriston, the toastmaster, Judson G. Rosenbush, Appleton, a trustee of the college; Alex Hunter, a football man and senior class president who welcomed Rasmussen for the school; A. C. Denny, who presented the basketball letters and intervarsity awards; and Donald "Stoney" McGlynn, former Lawrence star tackle, and now sport writer of a Milwaukee newspaper, who presented the new coach. Music before and after the talks was furnished by the Lawrence glee club and Franklin LeFevre, soloist.

EXPECT ONE TITLE BATTLE THIS YEAR

Champ Tunney, Promoter Rickard Agree on Bout During July

New York—(P)—Apparently there is to be one heavyweight championship fight this year. So much has come out of conferences at Miami between Gene Tunney and Tex Rickard. The situation is complicated by the New York boxing authorities asking Tunney to name his opponent forthwith.

Gene Tunney and Rickard have agreed upon a title affair to be held in July at a place not yet decided upon.

In the event Rickard abides by the wishes of Tunney, Tom Heeney, the New Zealand, will be the challenger.

The New York State Athletic commission Monday wired Tunney at Miami beach, notifying him that his six-months period of grace to settle upon an opponent would expire on Thursday and asked for a reply. The commission informed Tunney that challenges of Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney and Johnny Kisho were on file in that order.

Meanwhile, at Miami Beach, Rickard has persuaded Tunney to drop plans for a June bout and decided upon a July match instead. Rickard announced that the July struggle would be the only heavyweight championship of the year.

Rickard declared the decision reached with Tunney automatically covered the requirements sought by the New York commission.

Rickard said he would announce the challenger shortly but that he would not be Jack Dempsey who is now listed as "retired" despite feeling that the Manassa Mauler will eventually get into the struggle. As for Dempsey, a statement from him in Los Angeles said, "I have made a good many state ments lately and have nothing more to say just now."

Wisconsin Oarsmen Open Training For 1928 Year

Madison—Wisconsin's oarsmen are toiling daily on the rowing machines in the dreary armory annex here, preparing for the Poughkeepsie regatta to be held June 19.

With Lake Mendota still coated with ice, the Cardinal crew candidates must remain at the indoor apparatus while other varsity eights which compete in the Hudson shell classic are already priming themselves on the water.

Confinement to the rowing machines until late in the season, due to the customary low temperature, is a handicap Wisconsin faces each season. Coach "Dad" Vail's men are always weeks behind other crews in getting on the water. Technique and coordination, unfortunately, cannot be taught on a rowing machine.

Despite all handicap, "Dad" has been dealing his men an even match for the past month. They are entertained that Lake Mendota will open the early part of next month, Neenah high school's basketball team gets about as tough a row to hoe as any team in the state tourney, according to the schedule made public Monday. If it wins its second and semi-final game it should go through on that victory wave to a state title as it hits a pair of the toughest teams in the meet in those battles. After an opener with East De Pere which it should win by several points unless overconfident, it hits La Crosse in what scribes have marked as a "toss-up game," anybody's to the final minute with the team that gets the breaks and fights the more coolly and consistently to the end, the winner.

The winner of that game hits Madison Central, picked by many as the next state champ, in the second semi-final battle. In that game the Capitol City team, which finished third last year with almost the same crew, is favored over either Neenah or La Crosse. Boy, if Neenah wins that game, it takes the state meet, we'll say! even from Watertown or Wausau. Here's the way an enthusiastic Neenah fan has the meet figured and strange to say, we agree, except on perhaps the Neenah-Madison game which we can't give to Neenah or can't decide the winner. We agree with him before that game however and after in that the winner of that game will be the new state champ.

First round—Madison Central high will beat Ashland; Marshfield will beat Cuba City; Neenah will beat East De Pere; La Crosse will beat Oconto. River Falls will beat Waukegan in the closest and best game of the day; Wausau will beat Stevens Point; Watertown will beat Whitehall; Watertown will beat Wisconsin high in a good game. Second round—Madison will beat Marshfield; Neenah will beat La Crosse; Wausau will beat River Falls; Watertown will beat Stevens Point. Semi-finals—Neenah will beat Madison (?), Watertown will beat Wausau. (?) so will Neenah beat Wausau. Here's hoping.

Even Roundy, well-known Madison dopest, though picking Madison and Wausau to be the finalists, says his good word for Neenah.

"Well the district state basketball meet is over the finals teams you all know well now. There is about four tickets to write on the winners—as about four teams seem about equal strength.

Central of Madison and Wausau seem to be the favorites with the fans to copy the place and tell that all is out at the gym in the games—there is two teams coming here who might knock these two off and give you a swell surprise.

Take a tip from Roundy keep your eyes on Neenah high they ain't listed as one of the favorites but boy they got a team."

Marquette folk, and all Wisconsin fans for that matter, will be glad to learn that Tom Johnson, the old Marquette coach, is just finishing a great year as football and track coach at Male High school, Louisville. Tom was at the Illinois relays with his one mile team that carted back home the high school championship.

Johnson who had really unusual success as football coach at Marquette, has continued his winning ways at Male High where last season he won nine out of ten games. He lost his only game to Manual High on Thanks giving day, 6 to 0.

Johnson intends to bring his high school team to the Marquette relays in May and he probably will spend a few hours greeting old friends and renewing acquaintances at Marquette before he returns.

FRANK WALSH WINS $225 IN MIAMI BEACH EVENTS

Miami Beach, Fla.—(P)—Johnny Farrell, the "beautiful Irishman" from Mamaroneck, N. Y. tucked away a 63 for his final round of 18 holes and added the $15,000 LaGorce open championship to his titular list here Tuesday with a total of 274 ten under par for the 72-hole distance. Close on Johnny's heels came Bobby Cruikshank, with a 276. Farrell took down $5,000 of the big prize money, while the Scottish runnerup took $2,500. Frank Walsh, Appleton, Wis., had a 75-69-71-72-290, to take a prize of $225 in the meet.

in which event the two crews will remain here during the spring recess and take to the water.

Kingsburg, Zentner and Kiewit are the only varsity veterans with which Coach Vail was able to open training this season, although five men from the frosh eight are on deck. They include John Parks, football man, W. Dronet, Charles Goodman, J. U. Sperling, and Ted Otjen.

"Dad" Vail has singled out a prospective first eight, but the following list will undoubtedly be revamped many times before June: Kingsburg, Dronet, Parks, Goodman, Lunde, Horsefall, Kewig, and Orth. Comprised the tentative second eight oarsmen are Otjen, Zentner, Waefer, Wilson, Sherry, Combes and Beers.

Unless he can develop a crew that will cover the two-mile course in 10:30, Coach Vail is likely to follow the precedent he set last year when Wisconsin failed to send her varsity heat to the famous Poughkeepsie regatta on the Hudson.

APPLETON CAGERS AWARDED LETTERS

Eight Boys of 1927-28 Orange Five, With Four Seniors, Get "A's"

Eight members of the Appleton high school basketball team of the 1927-28 season which finished in a tie with Marinette and West Green Bay for fourth place in the Fox River Valley conference, were awarded letters by school athletic authorities this week. The list includes four seniors who will be lost to the 1928-29 squad, three juniors and a sophomore. Manager Melvin Bartz also was awarded a letter.

The lettermen are Capt. Orville Strutz, Robert Kuntz and Chester Johnson, guards; Norbert Berg, Michael Gochbauer and Byron Bowby, forwards; and Een Rafoth and Willard Kruse, centers. Strutz, Johnson, Bowby and Kruse are seniors and Berg is a sophomore.

Capt. Strutz has won his third letter in basketball playing for the Orange since he was a sophomore. Johnston has won two and it is the first cage letter for each of the other six boys. Johnston and Strutz are lettermen in three sports, all of the major sports of the local school. Each has three letters for football playing in the Orange backfield since their sophomore year and each earned his first track letter last year. Strutz in the javelin and Johnston in the shotput, 100-yard dash and broad jump.

Winning his basketball letter this year makes a three-sport letter winner of Kruse. He has two football letters and two in track, where he shines in the discuss and shotput and also is used in the high jump and high hurdles. Berg is the first sophomore cage letter winner for three years.

TO CHOOSE LEADER

The 1928-29 captain will be elected later this week by the eight men from among Berg and Gochbauer, forwards, Rafoth, center and Kuntz, guard. Track suits and material already has been issued to candidates for the 1928 Orange track squad and practice has started for the first test.

SLAVIC CHOSEN TO CAPTAIN LAWRENCE 1928-29 CAGE FIVE

Jerry Slavic of Elgin, Ill. sophomore, forward center and guard of the Lawrence college basketball team during the 1927-28 season was chosen to captain the 1928-29 quintet by his teammates this week. Announcement of Slavic's selection was made at the second annual Varsity banquet Tuesday evening at First Methodist church. The new captain started the season at center but was shifted to guard when the necessity for taller defensive men arose and he played an even better game there working well on defense and shooting baskets from midfloor in critical moments. He played reserve end in football and will be a candidate for the job again next fall.

Jerry will have 10 lettermen to work with next winter in an attempt to bring about a successful cage season as all but one of this year's squad, the largest number ever to receive cage letters at Lawrence, were sophs. Schlagenhauf is a senior and Jackola, Remmel, Rasmussen, Hilton, Schmelzer, Voelck, Pierce, St. Mitchell, Ellis and Hoffman return with Jerry. The Blue leader was captain and star of the Elgin high team that won the Illinois state title and produced two regulars of the 1928 Illinois live, including Mills, a guard who was chosen on several all-conference second teams.

JOIE RAY RETURNS TO OLD-TIME FORM

Old Chesty Champ Shows Up Mel Shimek, Then Wins Another Race

Evanston, Ill.—(P)—Little Joie Ray, who burned the mile tracks for a decade, then flickered from the cinders and boards for two years, has burst again into bright prominence.

Joie ran three miles at Patten gymnasium in the Central A. A. U. meet Tuesday night to win two races. He finished the two-mile event 75 yards in front of Mel Shimek, former Marquette University distance ace, and if his time of 9:32 2-5 was slow, it may have been because he never was pressed.

With this victory to his credit, he ran an anchor man for the Illinois Athletic club's medley relay team, overcoming a 10-yd handicap to finish 16 yards in front of Northwestern University's miller. He was not timed in this event.

Another of the middlewest's crack distance men, Ray Conger conquers of Dr. Otto Felzler and Lloyd Hahn, won his event, the 1,000-yard race, with plenty to spare but he failed by three seconds to equal the record. His time was 2:17 1-5.

MCGINNIS THIRD

Two of the country's crack pole vaulters, Droegemeuller of Northwestern and McGinnis, former Wisconsin star, finished second and third respectively in this event to Thomas Warner of Northwestern, national interscholastic titleholder.

Herb Schwarze's shot put of 48 feet 7 3/4 inches established a new meet record in the 16 pound event. He represented the I. A. C. The time of 10 minutes and 11 seconds by W. C. Spencer, Cherry Circle club, in the two mile steeplechase was another record performance.

Fred Alderman, former Michigan State college star, running for the I. A. C. broke a mark of three years standing when he finished the 300-yard run in 31 4-5.

The meet was won by the Illinois

WYCOFF OF GEORGIA FALLS FOR DIAMOND

So Doug Wycoff has finally fallen for professional baseball. This former Georgia Tech four-sports star is now in camp with the Washington Senators.

It is extremely doubtful whether any college athlete ever closed his campus career in as sensational a Frank Merriwell style as Wycoff did in his final athletic contest for his alma mater.

Wycoff, whose greatest fame came in football, enjoyed the distinction of being one of the heaviest hitters southern collegiate baseball ever had. He hit more than 500 one season and specialized in extra base wallpops.

Wycoff, in his final baseball game, came to bat against Georgia Tech's traditional rival, in the ninth inning with the score tied and, I think, championship of the conference at stake.

He socked one over the fence for a circuit trip.

Wycoff fell for pro football immediately after finishing college, but despite many offers for big league trials refused to listen until this year when Bobby Reeves, Washington shortstop and member of the same teams at Georgia Tech with Wycoff, persuaded him to change his mind. Perhaps he will make good.

Los Angeles—Joe Anderson, Kentucky, defeated Phil Krug, Newark, N. J., (10.) Walcott Langford, Chicago, won on a foul from Bert Collins, Whittier, Calif., (6.)

First comes CHRYSLER "72"

all others trail

Chrysler "72" performance makes all other performance in its field seem as out-of-date as last year's license plates. All you have to do is to ride in a "72," and drive it to appreciate the difference.

Only Chrysler's great engineering staff and precision manufacturing organization could have developed 75 smooth horse power from an engine of such moderate size.

You can, at will, do 72 miles an hour and more—velvety, easy miles—due to this unique and vibrationless engine with counterweighted seven-bearing crankshaft.

It takes mountain grades at constant acceleration. In traffic, the "72" flashes to the fore with characteristic Chrysler get-away.

Go to any Chrysler salesroom and ask for a "72" demonstration. Drive the car where and as you will. Demonstration will prove to you just how much better the "72" performs.

Citizens Bank 17, Weber Knits 14.

Paper reigned supreme in the Appleton Industrial-Commercial Basketball League after the final games of the 1927-28 season had been played Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. For the Fox River Paper Co. won its final battle with the Mulford's of Appleton and as a result tied the Appleton Coated Paper Co. quintet for the league championship for the year, each team having won 12 games and lost 2, the Coateds losing both to the Fox River five. The game was close until the final periods, the half ending with the Foxmen just three points in the lead and the Mulford's going strong as the result of a rally that had almost tied the score. However, Ray Tornow and the Fox's big guns went into action late in the third period and ran up a 25-15 lead before the Kawmen knew what was happening. Then they coasted to victory.

CITIZENS BANK WINS
Piling up a first half lead of 12-2 which was too much for the losers to overcome the Citizens Bank five finished its season by trimming the Weber Cozy Knits, 17-14. The Webers came back strong in the final periods and outscored the winners, 12-5 but that first-half lead, when the Webers missed easy shots, was too great to be overcome. The Webers missed enough free tries the final period to tie the game easily. The quarter ended 9-2, the half, 12-2, and the third period, 14-6. In the last period the score was 15-12 with three minutes to go after Gundersen had dropped two pretty markers and Fumrigger had added another but, the Bankers made it 17-12 with a short try by Schultz, who was unguarded. Then Versteegen ended the scoring, to make it 17-14.

NO CHANCE FOR ARMY,
BADGER GRID GAMES

Madison—(P)—The Wisconsin Athletic council has before it a proposal for football games in 1930 and 1931 between Wisconsin and the U. S. Military academy at West Point, according to the Madison Capital times. Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite, of the University, says there is no possibility that the games will be scheduled.

TWELVE CORNERS FIVE ENDS SEASON WITH WIN

Bill Meltz's Valley Queen cagers of Twelve Corners closed their 1928 basketball season with a victory Monday evening, trimming the Interlake Pulp and Paper Co. team of Appleton by a 28-24 score. The first period ended 8-4 for the winners, the second 13-10 and the third, 21-15. Two successive baskets in the final minutes pulled the losers up to four points of the home quint. The Interlakes missed several easy shots during the game to fall behind. Slingel led the Cornersmen with six baskets and five free throws or 17 of 28 points. Smith had two ringers. Heiden one and two free tries and Bruchas one of each. For the Appleton five Melberg scored five baskets for 10 of 24 points, Ness two and two gift shots, Schaefer two and one, Rhode a basket and R. Vogt a free try.

HOT FROM TRAINING CAMPS

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(P)—While the Yankees have not started any conflagration in their exhibition contests to date, the Keystone kids, Lazzeri and Koenig, have blazed out with red shirts, a fashion introduced by Bob Shawkey. Pigras, Combs and Durocher also flaunt red arms.

Tampa, Fla.—(P)—Pitching and hitting problems worried the Robins Wednesday. Manager Robinson lifted Stabz Herman from the outfield and planted Babe Herman on the right field post to bolster a hitting attack Tuesday. Herman obliged with a single that drove in a pair of runners, but Petty and Vance, were unable to take advantage Brooklyn dropping the fray by 6 to 2.

Fort Myers, Fla.—(P)—Even a railroad train can cause a team to lose a ball game. That's what the Giants say. The rattle didn't show up in time to stop the game with the Athletics when the score was deadlocked at 5-all Tuesday. While the McGraw men fidgeted for their train to Brandon, Tris Speaker injected a triple and romped in with the victory of 6 to 5 on a single by Simmons.

Winter Haven, Fla.—(P)—Despite the fact that the service of Frank Ulrich, his pitching ace, will be lost to him when the season opens, Manager Eurt Shotton of the Phillies has not rescinded his earlier prediction that the Phils are going somewhere this year. Ulrich, ill with influenza, probably will be out of the game until May or June.

San Francisco, Calif.—(P)—Although the Pittsburgh Pirates have lost two consecutive exhibition games to San Francisco, Manager Donie Bush has expressed himself as not being worried. Bush said, he intended to continue working the recruits and regulars by easy stages.

San Antonio, Tex.—(P)—Neun at first, Gehringer at second; Tavener shortstop and McManus at third. This infield combination will be in the opening lineup for Detroit and is believed by Manager Moriarty to constitute the smartest first line defense in the American League.

Avon Park, Fla.—(P)—A good share of the Cardinal squad got a workout Tuesday in the defeat handed them by the Boston Red Sox. A score of players failed to hold the attack of the Red Sox who came out on the long end of a 11 to 8 score. The Cardinals said "Howdy Andy" to Andy High of the Boston Braves and "Goodby Les" to Lester Bell who exchanged places with High in a trade announced last night.

West Palm Beach, Fla.—(P)—The reorganized St. Louis Browns have looked themselves over and found they weren't so bad thus far this season. They have outscored, outhit, outslugged and even outfumbled their opponents this season, they have won five out of eight games played against Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Newark.

Orlando, Fla.—(P)—Emmet McCann, who played second base for the Columbus club of the American Association this season, has been turned out that club by the Cincinnati Reds. Esthan Allen, the fast outfielder, has a wrenched shoulder but he will be back in practice in a day or two.

New Orleans, La.—(P)—A crippled squad of Cleveland Indians was at Gulfport, Miss., Wednesday to do battle with the Columbus American Association team. Shortstop Joe Sewell has a badly sprained hip and his chief understudy, Jonah Goldman has a sprained thumb. Carl Lind was scheduled to play short and Eddie Montague replaced John Hoptapp, third baseman who is nursing a sore arm. Buckeye, Underhill and Brown were announced for mound duty.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(P)—Their Tuesday's victory over the New York Yankees was not half the cause for joy to the Boston Braves Wednesday that the news was that Lester Bell, Cardinal third baseman, would wear a new uniform this season. The com-

Veteran from Southern California Shows Better Stuff Than Young Rival

New York, (P)—Of the two Southern California speed kings upon whose ability much of America's Olympic sprint hopes will be erected this year the blond veteran Charley Paddock, appears to be rounding into better spring form than the curly-haired youngster, Charley Borah.

Borah, the present intercollegiate champion, already has suffered three setbacks on the Pacific coast while Paddock has taken enough time off from lecturing, writing and movie acting to flash a lot of real speed.

Attired in "baby-blue and white striped pants, so the account runs, Paddock dashed the century in 9 4-5 seconds and the furlong in 22 flat in a recent meet at Stanford.

DON'T COUNT JACK OUT
The Tunney-Rickard heavyweight combination may be entirely serious in counting Jack Dempsey out of the picture this year. Then again, the promoter may be trying out a little "silent treatment" in the hopes that the ex-champion will change his mind and stage another come-back.

TY BACK FOR MACK
Cobb's return to the game this spring also is due to large measure, he admits, to affection for the veteran pilot of the Athletics, Connie Mack.

PURDUE'S ALL BIG TEN GUARD RANKS AS MIDGET

One of the smallest guards in Big Ten basketball history—Harry Kemmer of Purdue—was chosen back guard on the mythical all-star five at the end of the season a few days ago.

Inasmuch as Purdue finished in a tie with Indiana for the conference championship, this is not surprising and it is less surprising when one hears what Robert C. Woodworth, Purdue's publicity man, tells about Kemmer's play this season.

"Kemmer was, without doubt, the greatest back guard defender in the Big Ten this year," he writes me, "and fully deserves the honor."

"He is just a little fellow, as back guards go, but he is one tough young man to get around. In addition to his defensive ability, he scored more than 50 points this season, more than a great many forwards in the conference made."

"He has guarded so closely by the rule book in his games against Big Ten teams that I doubt if he made more than 13 personal fouls this season, and getting put out of a game by the personal foul route was an unusual sensation to him."

APPLETON YOUTH WINS BATTLE IN MICHIGAN
Robert "Bob" Moore, guard on the 1926 Appleton high school basketball team, won a four-round battle with Perry Waldwille of Niagara by a shade according to word received from Iron Mountain, Mich., where the local boy is employed at the S. S. Kresge Co. store. The fight was part of a card at that city last Saturday.

Here's the comment of the sport scribe of the Iron Mountain News on the scrap:

"Bob Moore had the edge of Perry Waldwille, of Niagara, though the Wisconsin boy had a shade in the opening round. Moore got his bearings in the latter stages and had Waldwille beating a hasty retreat round the ring in the last canto."

Frost Coming Out of the Ground Makes Travel Bad on Side Roads

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London.—The last breakup of frost in the ground, coupled with the melting of heavy snows, has played havoc with roads leading into this city. The road between this city and Northport is badly pitted and in need of gravel and the stretch between the Northport bridge and the top of the hill in Northport on Tuesday was almost impassable to loushing cars. Water was running over the road in a few places between Northport and Royall because of clogged culverts. A portable steam apparatus for the purpose of thawing the roads in some places was put into use by the Waupaca county road commission. Rural mail carriers who travel out of New London report that all side roads are extremely hard to travel just now. Mrs. Raymond Pahl finds it necessary to re-route a portion of her daily travel in order to escape several deep kettle holes which are several feet deep. She is making the complete route by car. James Edmonster, Route 3, states that all dirt roads are bad, that the frost is leaving the ground rapidly and that he pulled himself out of several bad mires with much difficulty. The roads toward Shuonon are also bad.

Unable to Get into New London Basement Because of Smoke from Oil

Dense smoke pouring from the boiler room caused the alarm and firemen arriving on the scene found it difficult to cope with the fire because of the smoke fumes which made it impossible to enter the basement. Hoses were chopped in the floor in two places and extinguishers containing chemicals were played upon the flames below. The fire gained sufficient headway to burn a hole through the flooring and two hours elapsed before all danger was past. The big round-bellied bean pot is filled with the flavor-rich ingredients—lots of brown sugar, molasses and prime sugar-cured pork. Then it is put to bake all night long in the "bean hole"—an oven in the ground.

This gives the finest baked-bean flavor known. A blend of forest fragrance, pungent wood smoke, fresh earthen oven.

And now this same wonderful woods flavor is reproduced for your own table. In Bean Hole Beans! You'll be delighted with this new achievement in flavor. It's so different! Enjoy it today. Ask your grocer to send you 2 or 3 cans. Two size.—medium and large.

THE STORY THUS FAR
 The jewel case had been opened with a chisel after being battered with a poker. And this puzzle VANCE when it is found near the strangled body of Margaret Odell. It makes him think two men were in the apartment, the murderer unaware of the man hiding in a clothes closet. In no way can the presence of even one be accounted for. Finger-prints lead to the arrest of Skeel, after Cleaver and Dr. Lindquist are questioned and Spotswood's known actions eliminate him. VANCE shoots a sudden question at Skeel: "Why didn't you give the alarm?"

CHAPTER XXI
 "Don't bother to answer," pursued VANCE, as the man opened his lips to speak. "But tell me, didn't the sight shake you up a bit? You're talking about it. Skeel started with sudden impetuosity. But, for all his sang-froid, one sensed an uneasiness in his manner. There was an overtone of effort in his desire to appear indifferent, which robbed his words of complete conviction."

"Not a pleasant situation, that," VANCE ignored his retort. "How did you feel, crouching there in the dark, when the closet door-knob was turned and some one tried to get in?" His eyes were boring into the man, though his voice retained its casual intonation. "The muscles of Skeel's face tightened, but he did not speak."

"I don't know what you're talking about," Skeel retorted with sudden impetuosity. "Suppose he'd got the door open—my word! Then what? . . . He paused and smiled with a kind of silky sweetness which was more impressive than any glowering aggression."

"I say, did you have your steel chisel ready for him? Maybe he'd have been too quick and strong for you—maybe there would have been thumbs pressing against your larynx too before you could have struck him—eh? . . . Did you think of that, there in the dark? . . . No, not precisely a pleasant situation. A bit gruesome, in fact. "What are you raving about?" Skeel spat out insolently. "You're bawling."

But his swagger had been forgotten, and a look akin of horror had passed across his face. This slackening of pose was a momentary, however; all most at once his smirk returned, and his head swayed in contempt. VANCE sauntered back to his chair and stretched himself in it listlessly, as if all his interest in the case had again evaporated.

Markham had watched the little drama attentively, but Heath had sat smoking with ill-concealed annoyance. The silence that followed was broken by Skeel.

"Well, I suppose I'm to be railroaded. Got it all planned, have you? . . . Try and railroad me!" He laughed heartily. "My lawyer's Abe Rubin, and you might phone him that I'd like to see him."

Markham, with a gesture of annoyance, waved to the deputy sheriff to take Skeel back to the Tombs. "What were you trying to get at?" he asked VANCE, when the man was gone.

"Just an elusive notion in the depths of my being struggling for the light," VANCE smoked placidly a moment. "I thought Mr. Skeel might be persuaded to pour out his heart to us. So I wooed him with words."

"That's just bully," gibed Heath. "I was expecting you any minute to ask him if he played mummy-peg or if his grandmother was a hoot-ow!"

"Sergeant, dear Sergeant," pleaded VANCE, "don't be unkind. I simply couldn't endure it. . . . And really, now, didn't my chat with Mr. Skeel suggest a possibility to you?"

"Sure," said Heath, "that he was hiding in the closet when Odell was killed. But what does that get us? It lets Skeel out, although the job was a professional one, and he was caught red-handed with some of the swag."

He turned disgustedly to the district attorney.

"And now, what, sir?" "I don't like the look of things," Markham complained. "If Skeel has Abe Rubin to defend him, we won't stand a chance with the case we've got. I feel convinced he was mixed up in it; but no judge will accept my personal feelings as evidence."

"We could turn the Dude loose, and have him tailed," suggested Heath grudgingly. "We might catch him doing something that'll give the game away."

Markham considered. "That might be a good plan," he conceded. "We'll certainly get no more evidence on him as long as he's locked up."

"It looks like our only chance, sir," "Very well," agreed Markham. "Let him think we're through with him; he may get careless. I'll leave the whole thing to you, Sergeant. Keep a couple of good men on him day and night. Something may happen."

Heath rose, an unhappy man. "Right, sir. I'll attend to it."

"And I'd like to have more data on Charles Cleaver," added Markham. "Find out what you can of his relations with the Odell girl—Also, get me a line on Doctor Ambrose Lindquist. What's his history?—what are his habits?—you know the kind of thing. He treated the girl for some mysterious or imaginary ailment; and I think he has something up his sleeve. But don't go near him personally—yet."

Heath jotted the name down in his note-book, without enthusiasm. "And before you set your stylish captive free," put in VANCE, yawning. "You might, don't y' know, see if he carries a key that fits the Odell apartment."

Heath jerked up short, and grinned. "Now, that idea's got some sense to it. . . . Funny I didn't think of it myself." And "taking hands with all of us, he went out."

(Wednesday, September 12: 10:30 a. m.) Swacker was evidently waiting for an opportunity to interrupt, for when Sergeant Heath had passed through the door, he at once stepped into the room.

"The reporters are here, sir," he announced, with a wry face. "You said you'd see them at ten-thirty."

In response to a nod from his chief, he held open the door, and a dozen or more newspaper men came trooping in.

"No questions, please, this morning," Markham begged pleasantly. "It's too early in the game. But I'll tell you all I know. . . . I agree with Sergeant Heath that the Odell murder was the work of a professional criminal—the same who broke into Arnheim's house on Park Avenue last summer."

Briefly he told of Inspector Brennen's findings in connection with the case.

"We've made no arrests, but one may be expected in the very near future. In fact, the police have the case well in hand, but are going carefully in order to avoid any chance of an acquittal. We've already recovered some of the missing jewelry. . . ."

He talked to the reporters for five minutes or so, but he made no mention of the testimony of the maid or the phone operators, and carefully avoided the mention of any names.

When he was again alone, VANCE chuckled admiringly. "A masterly evasion, my dear Markham! Legal training has its advantages—decidedly it has its advantages. . . ."

"We've recovered some of the missing jewelry! Sweet winged words! Not an untruth—oh, no!—but how deceiving!"

"Leaving all that to one side," Markham rejoined impatiently. "Suppose you tell me, now, that Skeel's gone, what was in your mind when you applied your verbal vocabulary to Skeel. What was all the conjuring talk about dark closets, and alarms, and pressing thumbs, and peering through keyholes?"

"Well, now, I didn't think my little chit-chat was so cryptic," answered VANCE. "The recherche Tony was undoubtedly ambuscaded in the clothes-press at some time during the fatal evening; and I was merely striving in my amateurish way to ascertain the exact hour of his concealment."

"And did you?" "Not conclusively," VANCE shook his head sadly. "I know, Markham, I'm the proud possessor of a theory—it's vague and obscure and unsubstantial; and it's downright unintelligible. And even if it were verified, I can't see how it would help us any, for it would leave the situation even ready is. . . . I almost wish I hadn't questioned Heath's Beau Nash. He upset my ideas frightfully."

"From what I could gather, you seem to think it possible that Skeel witnessed the murder. That couldn't, by any stretch of the imagination, be your precious theory?"

"That's part of it, anyway," "My dear VANCE, you do astonish me!" Markham laughed outright. "Skeel, then, according to you, is innocent; but he keeps his knowledge to himself, invents an alibi, and doesn't even tattle when he's arrested. . . . It won't hold water."

"I know," sighed VANCE. "It's a veritable sieve. And yet, the notion haunts me—it rides like a hag—it eats into my vitals."

"Do you realize that this mad theory of yours presupposes that, when Spotswood and Miss Odell returned from the theatre, there were two men hidden in the apartment—two men unknown to each other—namely, Skeel and your hypothetical murderer?"

"Of course I realize it, and the thought of it is breaking down my reason."

Furthermore, they must have entered the apartment separately, and "then, generatly. . . . How, may I ask, did they get in? And how did

With the city or county as a unit, the plan is to have the leaders of all clubs and organizations, irrespective of kinds, form in regular organized groups. This will make for mutual hope and the promotion of common interests in work with juveniles. It will also result in better technique and in avoidance of duplication.

Representatives of the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. The idea of centralizing and coordinating the work of groups like these originated with a committee appointed at Eau Claire conference of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work in September, 1927, of which Wakel McNeel, assistant state director of boys' and girls' agricultural club work, of the University was made chairman.

Among the members of the statewide committee will be Mr. McNeel, Mrs. Winifred Ferguson, June Co. probation officer, Frank Cockrell, boys' secretary, Madison Y. M. C. A. Charles J. Ritz, Community Union of Madison, Mrs. Elizabeth Prescott, Industrial School for Girls, Milwaukee, A. W. Siemens, Boy Scout executive, Madison and Aubrey W. Williams, general secretary of Wisconsin Conference of Social Work. Others interested in work with juveniles, such as county judges, will be asked to serve on this committee.

SEEK COOPERATION IN BOY, GIRL WORK

Conference of Social Workers Will Be Held at Madison in April

Madison—(P)—Coordination and cooperation in all state agencies work among boys and girls of the state will be sought in a conference of these organizations in Milwaukee, in April, under auspices of the State Conference of Social Work.

For the purpose of "bringing order into the whole field of boys' and girls' work throughout the state," the nucleus of a central committee has been formed, consisting of agencies interested primarily in youth. This "clearing house" plan to avoid duplication and make for progress is the outcome of a recent meeting in Madison for the Boys' and Girls' work section of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, attended by representatives of agencies dealing with boys and girls.

The function of the statewide planning body will be to examine into the

HUMANE SOCIETIES WAR ON STEEL TRAP

Madison—(P)—Traps used by Wisconsin fur trappers are classed as "leg grabbing, bone-crushing steel instruments of torture," by the state humane agent, who today announced that the president of the Wisconsin Federation of Humane Societies had been asked to appoint a committee which will work for improvement of the traps.

The American Humane association has such a committee, attempting through education, and prizes for invention of better traps, to improve the methods of catching for animals.

When physicians pronounce cascara the PERFECT laxative—why expelment with things that lash the system into action? Cascara, you know, is the bark of a tree. A natural and normal stimulus to the bowels.

The Indians, who used to chew this bark, had no word in their language that meant "constipation."

Perfect regularity is possible today and to all of us. We have cascara in ideal form, the very delightful-tasting candy cascaret gives us pure cascara. It has helped at least a million people to habitual regularity. Millions of others, unfortunately, have stuck to straggly things and acquired only the laxative habit.

 They Work While You Sleep!

Your first cascaret will demonstrate how THOROUGH this gentle laxative is, after all. Your next surprise will be the length of time before you need another. Eventually, you'll see that cascaring tends to make the bowels move after their own accord!

A modern drug store must stock many laxatives, but for your own good the druggist would rather have you ask for the inexpensive little box of Cascarets than anything else.

WATER WHEELS

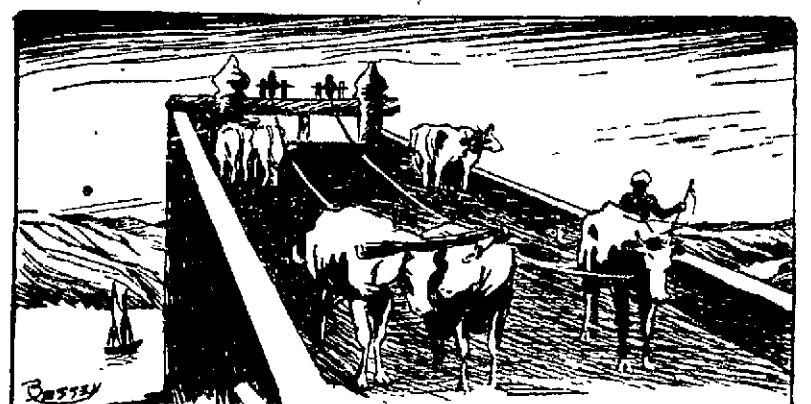

The huge water wheel pictured above, at Hamah, in northern Syria, is 75 feet in diameter and the largest in the world. It runs day and night, raising water in buckets to the arched stone aqueduct for irrigation purposes. In ancient times the town was called Hamath and was the capital of a Syrian kingdom which the kingdom of Israel touched in Solomon's time.

A peasant in India is shown here raising water by an arrangement known in that country as a denkli.

In the Japanese rice fields much of the irrigation is carried on by means of these treadmill water-raisers.

Sometimes animal power is used to raise water, oxen being driven down an incline here to raise water from a river. Parts of India are nearly rainless and there can be no cultivation without irrigation. Rice, a very valuable crop, is almost a water plant and needs a constant supply passing over it.

CROMWELL SKELETONS FOUND

Four skeletons, believed to be those of Cromwell's soldiers killed in battle, have been unearthed in Edlington Hall Wood near Horncastle, England. The skeleton is of a fine specimen of manhood of exceptional stature and with perfect teeth. Embedded in the chest and ribs of another were a number of small holes, as though the body had been pelted. Near the skeletons were found several environmental stones weighing about 300 pounds.

YOUTHS EXPLORE RIVER

Two youth, Max Gray and Arthur Lee Hunt, of Goulburn, Australia, have just completed a 150 miles canoe voyage down the previously unexplored parts of Shoalhaven River of that country. Many earlier attempts to make the trip had failed. The voyage required 26 days, the way being so rough and rocky that on some days only three miles were covered. Near Tertica, a beautiful waterfall, 300 feet high, was discovered. The river teemed with fish, and traces of gold were found in the gulches.

The Suez Canal is 103 miles in length; its average depth is 36 feet, and its greatest width 250 feet.

MONEY REFUNDED FOR DOG TAX LAST YEAR LESS THAN IN 1926

Clerk Says Increase in Number of Claims for Damages Is Responsible

Outagamie-co towns, villages and cities will receive refunds totaling $950.98; the balance remaining in the fund collected for dog licenses in 1927, according to computations made this week by John E. Hantschel, county clerk. Checks for the various amounts are to be mailed to the local treasurers within the next week or ten days, according to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer.

The amount of refunds for last year is more than $500 less than the 1926 amount when $1,267 was returned to the treasurers. The reason for this difference is because the claims paid from the dog tax fund this year were much higher than those paid in 1926.

In 1927 the towns and villages received 36 cents back for every dollar of dog taxes they paid to the county in 1926, whereas in 1928 they will receive but 23.15 cents on each dollar paid in 1927.

The city of Appleton will receive a refund of $191.60 as compared with $269.56 in 1927. The state will receive $615.92, or 15 percent of the total tax collected last year, as compared with $567.95 in 1927. In 1927 the total dog collection in the county was $4,106.10 as compared with $3,788.95 in 1926.

Following are the amounts to be refunded to each town, city and village compared with the refunds in 1927.

STOP SHIPMENTS ON GOOSEBERRY PLANTS

A quarantine has been declared against 31 states, including Wisconsin, by the secretary of agriculture, prohibiting the shipping of five-leafed pines outside those states because of the white pine blister rust according to word received at the postoffice here Monday. A quarantine has also been placed against 17 states, including Wisconsin, prohibiting the shipping of currant or gooseberry plants.

This step has been taken to prevent the spread of the plant disease.

Shipments may be made, however, providing the premises where the plants have been grown and the plants themselves have been declared free from the disease by a state nursery inspector.

Hemlines Rise and Dip

Almost imperceptible, so slight the change—but it's there and you'll note the difference—a new smartness that breaks a straight uninteresting line.

Waistlines Reach Upwards

And they seem undecided whether to go up or down, so they compromise by going both ways in a single frock.

Tailored Suits—Unusually Chic

Fashion leaders are over-enthusiastic about the smartness and practicability of suits for spring. Every fashionable woman and miss should have one—She may choose from tweeds, twills, hain lines and mixtures—for all are among those chosen, and there are many favored cuts as well.

The New Millinery

Shows Dramatic Changes in Style

Hats are more feminine. They go in for veils, flowers, lace, shining trimmings are used, such as cire ribbon and lacquered fruit. Brims—if any—are daringly slashed. There are smart new cyclines—a raised eyebrow effect, a line that accents one eye or suggests arched brows. New straws of linen texture and glistening Telephone braid are favorites—while ballibuntl and light weight handkerchief telt are still important.
